JAPAN FLIERS KILL CIVILIANS ON YANGTZE

Chinese Report Invaders Driving Toward Hankow Bomb Noncombatants

Defenders Tell Of Some Gains

SHANGHAI (AP)—Japanese fliers were accused in Chinese reports Friday of causing hundreds of civilian deaths during persistent bombardments of the middle Yangtze River region.

Chinese dispatches from Nanchang said Japanese raiders spied 3,000 refugees in the Lushan Mountains south of Kiukiang and dropped bombs on them, killing "unaccounted hundreds."

A Japanese naval communique charged Chinese planes bombed the Japanese hospital ship Taichi-bana Maru near Kiukiang although she flew a Red Cross flag. No mention was made of the damage.

Another report asserted Japanese airmen had raided Nanchang, important air base 90 miles south of fallen Kiukiang, gateway to the Hankow region, and dropped 30 bombs that killed or wounded 600 and destroyed many houses.

BUILDINGS DESTROYED

For the past two days, it was said, Japanese planes had continuously raked the Kiukiang-Nanchang area with bombs and machine guns and demolished 400 buildings.

Japanese were silent about the trend of battle on the Kiukiang front, but Chinese maintained the situation on the south bank of the Yangtze was "developing favorably."

A Chinese counter-offensive was said to have severed Japanese lines south of Kiukiang, only 135 miles downstream from the provisional capital of Hankow, while "further Chinese air attacks on Japanese warships near Kiukiang damaged seven more."

From Chingchow—far to the north in the Hansi province—came reports that a surprise Chinese attack on Japanese forces 60 miles south of Kaifeng had resulted in the slaying of 400 invaders.

When New York Throng Saw 17-Story Leap

Thousands of people on Fifth Avenue, New York, were watching when these pictures were taken. It was shortly before John Warde, 26-year-old unemployed bankteller, jumped to his death from a 17th-floor window of the Gotham Hotel after standing or sitting on an 18-inch window ledge for nearly 11 hours. The upper picture shows how, almost within grasping distance, a policeman pleaded with him to go back inside the building, while above two other policemen were ready with ropes, to act if an opportunity came. The lower picture shows the big cargo net which was brought from the waterfront. It was pulled up to the 16th floor, but before it could be raised to him in Warde's window, he leaped.

Canadian-British Air Plans Speeded

Missions at Ottawa: Full Federal Control of Pilot Training

OTTAWA (CP)—Full co-operation of the National Defence Department was assured the two missions of the British air ministry by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, National Defence Minister, in brief conferences here today. The minister welcomed the British envoys and told them all the resources of the department would be placed at their disposal in order to facilitate their quest.

The first mission, a one-man affair in the person of Group Captain J. M. Robb, commandant of the central flying school of the Royal Air Force, met the minister with Air Commodore G. M. Croil, senior air officer; Group Captain L. S. Broadner, air staff officer; Group Captain E. W. Stedman, chief aeronautical engineer; and Lieut-Col. L. R. Lafleche, deputy minister.

Group Captain Robb's purpose is to report to the British government what facilities exist for the training of pilots in Canada for the Royal Air Force. After being greeted by Mr. Mackenzie, the British officer was turned over to the Royal Canadian Air Force heads, who will place before him the whole layout of Canada's aviation structure.

They are John McPherson, 91; Thomas McPherson, 82, and Mrs. C. E. Wales, 85. With them is Mrs. Wales' daughter, Miss E. W. Wales. They went to the Empress Hotel, from the Aorangi and engaged a suite of rooms for a month, but this morning were not so sure they would remain because of the winds, which they thought were amazingly cool for this time of the year.

"We make really a very congenial foursome for world traveling," Miss Wales said. "My uncle and my mother are very active and smart, and they enjoy every moment of our voyages. They like to follow the sun, and when it gets too cold in one place we move on to another, where it is warmer."

The McPherson brothers, with their sister and niece, left their homes in England five years ago on their present trip. They went around South Africa to the South Seas, spent two years in Honolulu and then went to Rotorua, New Zealand, which impressed them greatly.

When it got too cold there they went to the Fiji Islands, where they spent the last few months. It is their intention to cross Canada and sail for home in September.

"It is our first visit to Canada and we were all as excited as children as we stepped ashore on Canadian soil for the first time yesterday," Miss Wales said.

TRADE PACTS HIT SNAGS ON THREE FRONTS

European Outlook Turns Britain Cautious; U.S. Faces Elections

By NORMAN M. MacLEOD
OTTAWA—Complete ministerial silence on the subject is regarded on Parliament Hill as confirming the reports of the last few days which have described the tri-party trade negotiations between the British, the United States and the Canadian governments as having arrived at an impasse, and the prospect of rescuing them as definitely not bright.

The reports have come from well-authenticated sources. In addition to their general tenor, it is well known that the government here has been in close communication recently with the mission in Washington for the past several months, and that the negotiators, in place of reporting progress, were able to report only the reverse. The understanding is that they were close to the point of being willing to throw up their hands.

As a result, two prospects now seem definitely assured:

In the first place, there will be no new Canada-United States trade treaty until after the Congressional elections in November.

In the second place, the treaty which is finally concluded will be only a shadow of the arrangement which the Ottawa administration was once hopeful of securing. It will be little more than a "face-saving" document for the governments concerned.

Two months ago the ministry here was confident that the tri-party negotiations were headed towards a successful conclusion. Recently, however, unexpected snags have appeared in their path.

Bachelor Brothers and Sister, All Over 80 Years, on Five-year Jaunt

Two bachelor brothers and their married sister, whose ages total 258 years and who have been traveling around the world for the last 15 years, arrived here yesterday by Ms. Aorangi and will stay a month in Victoria if the breezes, which they find chilling after the South Seas, die down and the weather turns warm again.

Crowd Watches Huge Stick, Donated By Mayo Singh, Raised at Beacon Hill

The delicate operation of hoisting the 157.6-foot Douglas fir flagpole, presented by Mayo Singh to the city for the Beacon Hill Park Lookout, was successfully performed this morning.

The job was done by experts from Mayo Singh's lumber camp, who have been preparing the gigantic pole for the last three days. Final preparations were made this morning with wrapping the marlins on the guy wires and the powerful donkey engine, brought from the donor's camp, was tested. Slowly the pole was raised. At intervals the engine was stopped and the men inspected cables to see that all was in order.

The pole was finally set square on the concrete foundations and the exact vertical angle was determined by a theodolite. Eight guy wires were fastened to anchored concrete blocks around the base of the pole. One set of four fastened a little more than halfway up the pole and the other four about half as much again toward the top.

The pole is a little over two feet across at the base and tapers to about 11 inches at the top. A knob of teak about 12 inches in diameter is fastened on the top.

DONOR ON HAND

Mayo Singh was on hand to view the raising along with a group of the city's officials, which included Mayor Andrew McGavin and Aldermen W. H. Davies, W. L. Morgan, and J. A. Worthington. Crowds of spectators also witnessed the spectacle and policemen were on hand to direct traffic and to keep the crowds back.

A new flag has been procured to fly from the pole and the official raising of this will be done next week.

The donation of this pole, which is a foot higher than the one at the Parliament Buildings, was merely another of Mayo Singh's generous contributions. The pole was cut at Goldstream two years ago. Mayo Singh shipped it down the island on three flatcars of the C.N.R. Railway. Since 1936 it has been in the city's yards where it has seasoned and shaped. It was taken to Beacon Hill three days ago at 4 in the morning so that traffic would not be interfered with.

Burma Clash Deaths Total 47

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—British military police fired into riotous crowds of Burmese Buddhists and Indian Moslems today for the first time in four days of fighting in which 47 persons have been killed and more than 300 wounded.

Several were wounded by volleys fired by troops in three different parts of the sacred city. After renewed fighting through the streets today, authorities posted a public notice authorizing soldiers and police to shoot any persons attacking another or found looting.

During the night knives flashed, stones flew and sticks were wielded from the darkness as troops patrolled the streets in armored cars, set up machine guns and barricaded trouble areas.

HOUSEWIVES ORGANIZED

League Formed in Vancouver to Protest Interests of Women

A league to promote, support, protect and watch over the interests of housewives of British Columbia and by all lawful means to effect reductions in the cost of living, was incorporated this week under the Societies Act.

The league has its headquarters in Vancouver and its by-laws provide for expansion of branches, all of which will be responsible to a central executive council.

Other objects listed by the league in its declaration are: To consider and discuss all questions affecting the interests of housewives and the operation of homes, to investigate the cost of commodities and articles of all kinds used in a household and to diffuse information in respect thereof and to originate and promote improvements and changes in the law of the Dominion and the province, and in municipal by-laws, affecting the interests of housewives and "to support or oppose alterations therein, and to effect improvement in administration and to petition parliament, the Legislature and municipal councils and to take such other steps and proceedings as may be deemed expedient."

Winds Increase B.C. Fire Fighters' Task

While Crews Watch Campbell River Area, Mainland Blazes Spread

VANCOUVER (CP)—The weather man brought more discouraging reports to fire-dotted British Columbia today and the 1,000-odd weary men fighting forest blazes from Vancouver Island to the northern interior.

Reports from the Vancouver Island coal town of Bevan said the spot fire which threatened the community last night had been extinguished. Meanwhile the 100,000-acre blaze lies dormant in the background, needing only the encouragement of a wind to renew its march.

For the mainland, where many fires were burning, fresh west to southwest winds were forecast. The Kootenay and Okanagan districts, too, might expect scattered thundershowers, however, which would aid firefighters in quelling flames fanned by the winds.

A new fire was added to the province's total overnight.

Residents of a Japanese community on Rawleigh Lake in the Fraser Valley prepared to evacuate their homes as a 800-acre forest fire swept towards lumber mills and valuable timber stands in the area.

The outbreak destroyed a shingle mill last night and today threatened to destroy another (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

MANILA, P.I. (AP)—An intensive search by air, sea and underwater craft was ordered Friday night for the Pan-American Airways, giant Hawaii Clipper, which disappeared with 15 men on a flight from Guam to Manila.

Within 12 hours after the last radio call was sent by the 26-ton flying boat, the most intensive three-way search of the Pacific Ocean ever undertaken in the vicinity of the Philippines was ordered by army and navy commanders.

Seven planes, eight navy ships, six submarines and an army transport were thrown into the hunt for the $450,000 airliner, which literally vanished from the air midway on her 1,600-mile flight.

Fears for the safety of the six passengers and crew of nine increased as the hours dragged by without word since the last message flashed from the clipper's radio at 12.09 p.m. (8.09 p.m. Thursday, P.S.T.)

TRANSPORT IS NEAREST

The U.S. army transport Meigs, nearest ship to the clipper's last position, was within the area where it was believed the plane was forced down.

Shortly before 10 p.m. (6 a.m. P.S.T.) she began sweeping the sea with powerful searchlights. Rockets were sent up every 15 minutes. Flares were lit hourly. Her radio continually sent the clipper's call letters. Rain made visibility poor and a 15-mile-an-hour wind made it likely the clipper, if she had landed safely, was blown far from the position.

In her last report the clipper said she was bucking a 14-mile-an-hour headwind at an elevation of 9,000 feet between two cloud banks.

Flying conditions and visibility had been generally good, but the plane had flown through scattered showers.

The last position given by the four-motored flying boat was 12.27 north longitude, 130.40 east latitude. This is approximately 600 miles east of the Philippine Island of Samar.

FAILURE UNEXPLAINED

No reason was advanced as to why she might have been forced down, but it was pointed out that if she had made a safe landing she could float on the Pacific Ocean as well as any boat.

For several hours after the clipper's usual landing time—between 2.30 and 3.30 p.m.—Pan-American officials insisted they were not worried.

At 6.30 p.m. one official, although unable to explain the clipper's failure to report by radio at the regularly scheduled intervals, said: "She had to go around the storm and back headwinds, therefore we did not expect her until around 6 o'clock tonight, now we consider her only a half hour late. But that is not unusual."

THOSE ABOARD

The Hawaii Clipper, under command of Captain Leo Terletzky of Palo Alto, Calif., carried six passengers:

Major Howard C. French, Portland, Ore.

HAUGWITZES SEPARATED

Agreement Signed; No Mention of Money Settlement For Danish Court

LONDON (AP)—Attorneys for the former Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress, and her estranged husband, Count Haugwitz-Reventlow, announced today the couple had reached an agreement for a separation.

The count was granted certain "parental rights" toward Lance, their two-year-old son. They entitle him to make some of the final decisions affecting his son's education, religion and career.

The deed of separation already has been signed both by the count and countess. It is subject to approval by the Danish minister of justice, but would be valid both under Danish and British law.

Count Court is Danish and the Countess has adopted her husband's nationality.

SETTLEMENT UNKNOWN

No mention was made of any possible settlement on the count.

It was recalled that the heiress's attorney in the Bow Street court hearing had said the count once demanded the price of "$15,000,000 and the child" in return for a divorce. The nobleman was Countess Barbara's second titled European husband. The day before her wedding to the count, the countess was divorced in Reno from ex-Prince Alexis Mdivani, who later was killed in an automobile accident.

Thus the heiress and the Danish nobleman she married in Reno, Nev., May 14, 1935, came to the parting of their ways. The count waived any rights he might have had under Danish law to one-half of the "common property of both parties." Since the countess may not always "preserve Danish nationality," she decided to settle "an appropriate sum on Lance forthwith and the settlement has been executed with the count as one of the trustees." This was disclosed in a formal announcement.

Island School Trustees Meet

NANAIMO—With Mrs. Janet P. Leeming of Duncan presiding, the Mid-Island School Trustees' Association is meeting here today. Delegates are present from Duncan, Chemainus, Ladysmith, South Wellington, Saltair, Harewood, Errington, Parksville and French Creek.

The meeting yesterday elected Trustee Christ of French Creek a delegate to the B.C. School Trustees' convention in Kamloops in September.

Past presidents of the mid-island body will automatically become life members and be governed by privileges of the parent body, the meeting decided.

A resolution urging the Union of B.C. Municipalities and the B.C. School Trustees' Association meet the government to discuss reduction in school taxation passed.

Reeve Chapman of Cowichan reported to the meeting his findings from a survey he made on school finance.

Other matters discussed were the use of what was termed bad grammar over the Canadian radio chain; apprentices in B.C. trade and industry, and teachers with manual training and home economics degrees for rural schools.

Warship Near As Raiders Sink Ship

British Commons Told Hero's Crew Saw Franco Fliers Bomb Ss. Dellwyn

LONDON (CP)—The House of Commons recessed today until November 1 after a debate on bombing of British ships in Spanish waters and announcement the government regards as deliberate the attack by insurgent warplanes on the British merchant vessel Dellwyn in the harbor of Gandia, Spain, July 26.

R. A. Butler, parliamentary Under-Secretary of State, told the House during the question hour the government had information suggesting the bombing was deliberate. Later it was revealed a British destroyer was near during the attack and did not retaliate because of naval instructions to protect British shipping only outside territorial waters.

The vessel sank as a result of bombs dropped by a low-flying warplane, reported to have come from the Spanish insurgent air base on Mallorca Island. There were no casualties as a result of the bombing.

"Reports received so far have suggested the attack on this vessel was deliberate," said Mr. Butler. "If, on further investigation, this view is confirmed, the British Government will at once request the commission, which is being formed to investigate such cases, to examine the circumstances of the attack."

NUMEROUS QUESTIONS

Events in Spain came to the front again as the House was preparing for its summer recess. The government was criticized from the Labor benches on its Spanish policy and was kept busy replying to a barrage of questions.

"Is it not a fact that this ship was attacked on four separate occasions before, and that aircraft came low and machine-gunned repeatedly?" asked Philip Noel Baker, Labor. "Will the British Government, in view of these facts, withdraw Sir Robert Hodgson (British commercial agent to insurgent Spain) from Burgos?"

"No," replied Mr. Butler. He agreed to the description of the bombing, but suggested it would be better to refer it to the commission.

DESTROYER NEARBY

When it came out during questioning that the Dellwyn bombing was committed while the British destroyer Hero stood by without retaliating, Labor members taunted the government.

Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, Labor, demanded whether there was "any previous case in British history where a British ship was being sunk in any waters under the eyes of the British fleet and the British fleet had not taken action?"

Lieut. Col. J. J. Llewellyn, Civil Lord of the Admiralty, refused to answer.

Another Labor member, Frederick Cocks, then wanted to know if naval authorities had given instructions "to allow British ships to be sunk under the very guns of the British navy and that on no occasion shall anybody fire on the Italian friends of the government?"

ON HIGH SEAS

"Instructions were given the Royal Navy," Lieut. Col. Llewellyn replied, "in accordance with the policy of His Majesty's government, which is to give full protection to British ships outside territorial waters and not to give such protection within territorial waters."

To Miss Eleanor Rathbone, Independent, Mr. Butler said Gandia was Spanish territory, although leased by a British company, and "if we were to go on the territory of Spain and defend it, we would be taking part in a war which we are unprepared to do."

Prime Minister Chamberlain said the government was pressing for information on the death of an observation officer of the Nonintervention Commission on the British merchant ship Kellwyn in Valencia harbor yesterday, during a bombing raid. The protest, he said, should come jointly from all nations on the committee.

Mr. Chamberlain said he understood plans were being prepared to safeguard observation officers.

ON SPEAKER'S CALL

While the House will be in recess for three months, authority was given the Speaker to reassemble the members on instigation of the government. This may be done if the Spanish situation is settled sufficiently to satisfy the government and make possible ratification of the Anglo-Italian treaty, which hinges on this stipulation.

spite the efforts of 300 firefighters. The men were hampered by lack of water.

Near Port Haney, 20 miles east of Vancouver, a blaze was raging out of control over 800 acres despite the efforts of 150 firefighters. More men were moved into the area today to cope with the blaze that already had destroyed considerable timber and a shingle mill and was threatening another mill. Lack of water hampered the firefighters. Five hundred men were scattered through the Similkameen district of southern British Columbia fighting one of the most serious fire situations in recent years.

The Granby Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company's operation at Copper Mountain was closed. Its crew of 400 were fighting a blaze roaring through 300 acres of jack pine, last reported three miles from the camp.

BEAR CREEK OUTBREAK

Destruction of a road was the chief danger from a blaze sweeping down into the narrow Bear Creek valley in the Coquihalla district. At the Quesnel Mining Company's Spanish Creek camp, heavy repairs were made to a broken high pressure line supplying water as firefighters attempted to curb a blaze there. Twenty-four men fought another new blaze burning in bush at the base of Grouse Mountain across Burrard Inlet from Vancouver. It was reported under control.

Other fires were burning between the Quesnel and Horsefly Lakes in the Cariboo district and in the Mud Lake district on the Cariboo highway. A 60,000-acre fire along the banks of the Beaver River near Prince George was reported checked.

The Hawaii, one of three flying boats in regular trans-Pacific service for Pan-American Airways, left her eastern base at Alameda, Calif., last Saturday. She was capable of riding the waves indefinitely provided her hull was not damaged in an impact with the water.

Only tragedy in all of Pan-American's Pacific flying was last January 11, when seven men were killed in the mid-air explosion of the Samoan Clipper while her load of gasoline was being dumped for an emergency landing near Pago Pago, Samoa.

FROM GUAM

The navy tender Penguin was sent from Guam carrying one Pan-American radio man and an airways mechanic.

Seven army planes were ordered to take off from Cavite on Manila Bay at dawn Saturday for Legaspi, on the southwestern tip of Luzon Island and closest airport to the position given by the clipper.

From Legaspi the two amphibians and five bombers were directed to comb a widespread area for trace of the flying boat. The planes, each with a flying range of 1,100 miles, were instructed to sweep over a path out to sea 70 miles wide, flying 10 miles apart.

All United States naval ships in the Manila area were ordered to get up steam to join the search.

CANADIAN-BRITISH AIR PLANS SPEEDED

required to supply some equipment and instructors.

The financial arrangements covering the project have not yet been reached. It is believed, however, a simple plan is being considered whereby the Canadian treasury may be reimbursed by the British government for the actual out-of-pocket expenses incurred in the training of the recruits, while against that will be set a credit in favor of the United Kingdom covering the additional equipment that country may have to transfer to Canada.

PAY ARRANGEMENT

The recruits will likely be taken provisionally on the strength of the Royal Canadian Air Force, be paid at R.C.A.F. rates and their transfer to the United Kingdom service effected as in the normal course followed at present.

The second mission, comprising A. H. Self, second deputy under-secretary to the British Air Ministry, R. F. Handley-Page, aircraft manufacturer, and T. C. Boddis, secretary of the mission, was introduced to Mr. Mackenzie by Sir Francis Floud, British High Commissioner to Canada.

The initial conference was of a formal character. The minister voiced pleasure at the mission's presence in Canada and renewed to its members the assurance of his own support and of his department's co-operation. Following the brief preliminaries, the mission was turned over to Lieut. Col. Lafleche, whose services have been placed at its disposal by the government.

TO SEE PLANTS

The envoys got down to real business with Lieut. Col. Lafleche during the afternoon, when all details relating to the aircraft construction industry in Canada were laid before them. It is now understood the mission will make a personal inspection of Canadian aircraft factories with a view to satisfying themselves as to their efficiency, capacity and potentialities.

The Britons were Mr. Mackenzie's guests today at luncheon. On Monday they will leave Ottawa for Montreal, where they will get in touch with the aircraft manufacturers. Mr. Self made it clear the mission's intention was to negotiate with the industry as a whole and not to deal with any individual units of it.

The likelihood is that for the preliminaries the industry may delegate its representation to members of its own section of the Commercial Air Transport and Manufacturers' Association, of which the president is R. J. Moffett, general manager of Canadian Vickers.

The mission will stay in Canada several months. In that period it will negotiate with the industry with regard to the manufacture of heavy bombing planes. But such negotiations will have to have the sanction of the British Air Ministry before they can be concluded and made operative.

SOMERVILLE IS GOLF FINALIST

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London gained the final of the Canadian amateur golf championship here today with a crushing 10 and 11 victory over Ven Savage of Salt Lake City in their 36-hole semi-final match.

RUBINOFF IS IN HOSPITAL

DETROIT (AP)—Dave Rubinoff, the violinist, was reported "resting comfortably" today in the Harper Hospital after suffering a relapse. Rubinoff came here after undergoing an appendectomy at Battle Creek. Peritonitis set in and two other operations were performed.

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—Neighbors this morning found F. Joseph Morrissey under a haystack near the packing shed where the body of his wife was found last night. Mrs. Morrissey had been shot to death and Morrissey was seriously injured with a bullet through his forehead. Deputy Sheriffs W. G. Calhoun and Harry Thompson, reconstructing the case, found Morrissey shot his wife during a quarrel and then walked away to attempt suicide.

Storm Losses In Ontario Areas

TORONTO (CP)—Extensive damage to crops and property was left in the wake of thunder and electrical storms over many sections of Ontario yesterday. The storms extended from Midland, on Georgian Bay, eastward to the Peterborough district of southeastern Ontario. One man was killed.

At Omemee, north of Lindsay, Roy Windrim was struck and killed by lightning.

At the height of the storm at Lindsay part of the roof of the Canadian National Railway roundhouse was blown off. Workers sought refuge in the fire boxes of engines they were repairing.

At Midland the loud rattle of hailstones against the windows of the courtroom caused suspension of activities for the duration of the storm, as the noise was too great to permit arguments of counsel to be heard.

Hundreds of farmers in the areas lashed by the disturbance surveyed fields of crushed and broken grain today.

The storm in its sweep missed Toronto, but hit Barrie, 60 miles north of the provincial capital. An offshoot swung outward and caused extensive damage in the London and other districts of that part of the province.

NEW PURGE IN SIBERIA

MOSCOW (AP)—The Siberian newspaper, Pacific Ocean Star, couples news of a new purge of wreckers in the Far East with a warning to Japan against invasion.

The paper, published at Khabarovsk, said: "In the last few months a great purge was carried on, and it still continues. The Bolsheviks of Primorsk province will smoke from their holes all spies, wreckers and terrorists to the last man."

As to Japan, the paper said: "If the Japanese rabble poke their noses into Primorsk Province (hard by the area in which have occurred recent Russian-Manchukuan border clashes) they will have only themselves to blame for the consequences. They will be scattered by a hurricane of fire from the air, sea and land."

The removal of Grigory Petrovsky from the presidency of the Ukraine republic was confirmed Thursday morning with nouncement of the election of Leonid Kornitz, carried by both Pravda, the Communist party organ, and Izvestia, the government newspaper.

Petrovsky, an old Bolshevik, held office almost 20 years.

Uniform Trade Pacts For Empire

LONDON (CP)—Sir Earle Page, Australian Minister of Commerce, who is scheduled to sail for Canada Saturday aboard the liner Duchess of Bedford, will seek to interest Prime Minister King in his view that the Empire should adopt a uniform policy regarding trade agreements.

After he consults Mr. King he will depart for the United States, intending to investigate the chance of negotiating an Australian-United States trade pact.

He will tell Mr. King he believes Empire countries could avoid making conflicting trade agreements and could work out a uniform approach so that agreements with foreign countries would not operate to the detriment of other commonwealth members. His plans would provide for intermittent consultation between Empire countries to preserve a common policy.

Sir Earle will see Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, at Washington.

Yesterday he had an audience with Prime Minister Chamberlain, following which he said he had been assured that the United Kingdom, in its trade negotiations with the United States, would not agree to concessions affecting Australian canned or dried fruit.

ANNIVERSARY OF WAR UNMARKED

VIENNA (AP)—The 24th anniversary of the Austrian declaration of war against Serbia, the first that divided Europe in war in 1914, passed yesterday completely ignored.

Since then, the Hapsburgs lost their imperial throne, monarchy yielded to democracy and finally little Austria, all that was left of the Austro-Hungarian Empire after the Versailles Treaty was absorbed in Greater Germany.

Now, almost a quarter of a century later, the tables seem irrevocably turned against the fallen house of Hapsburg.

All the wealth that Emperor Otto I began to accumulate 1,000 years ago, when he confiscated the property of German Count Guntram, now has been confiscated again from Otto, pretender to the same throne, by Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

A thousand years ago Emperor Otto sent Count Guntram to prison for high treason. Today Otto von Hapsburg is wanted by German police and a warrant is out for his arrest, charging high treason.

Fossil Crocodile Found With Horns

CHICAGO—An overlooked specimen in the Field Museum here has turned out to be a rarity, never before known—a fossil crocodile with horns.

The horned crocodile fossil was collected by the Field Museum paleontological expedition of 1937, but its unique character was unnoticed while the scientists were collecting in the field. Only when the specimen was being prepared for exhibit did its extraordinary aspect come to light.

A horned crocodile, states Henry W. Nichols, chief curator of geology, is more rare than a toothed hen, for while some prehistoric birds have been found to have teeth there is no previous record that the order of Crocodylia ever possessed horns.

U.S. Lieut.-Colonel Loses Seniority

NEW YORK (AP)—A general court martial at Governor's Island today reprimanded Lieut.-Col. Stewart S. Giffin and ordered him reduced 100 files or places on the army promotion list.

Lieut.-Col. Giffin was tried on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman.

The charge against Giffin carried six specifications, all relating to drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He was found innocent on four of the six and on the remaining two the language was tempered to read "wrongfully" instead of "maliciously."

Movies to Stage Big Publicity

NEW YORK (AP)—Hollywood is going to spend $1,000,000—just to pat itself on the back.

Three hundred producers, exhibitors and distributors announced a $1,000,000 publicity campaign, beginning September 1, to "emphasize the essential place movies have come to occupy in the life of the nation."

The fund will be spent in newspaper advertising and a nationwide contest with $250,000 in prizes.

Increasing danger of Great Britain's position in Europe, the Chamberlain government is extremely anxious not to weaken Imperial ties in any degree. Consequently, it is less disposed than it was to risk the sentiment which increased concessions to United States products—involving decreased preferences for Empire products—would mean. Furthermore, there is a trade recession in progress in Britain in all industries save the armament industry. The effect of it is to make British manufacturers less disposed to look with equanimity upon concessions to United States-manufactured products.

From the standpoint of the United States, there is the fact that a trade recession has recently been experienced there, and that the Congressional elections are due in November. If American industry were booming, President Roosevelt might be able to take a chance on giving some of the concessions which the British want. With times as they have been recently, however, and with a major electoral contest in the immediate offing—his hands are effectively tied.

The consequent situation, therefore, makes the prospect of an effective United States-United Kingdom agreement improbable in the extreme.

HEPBURN A FACTOR

The outlook for Canada is bound up with the British-American impasse. For the concessions which the Dominion was hopeful of receiving from the republic for western cattle, for Maritime fish, and for Quebec and Ontario dairy products particularly—were contingent upon United States products being admitted to a share of the Imperial preferences in the United Kingdom market. With the Chamberlain government less inclined to share the preferences because of the possible reaction from the other parts of the Empire, however, Canada's hopes of United States concessions become dim.

There is the suggestion from Washington, according to current reports, that the Washington authorities, in view of the turn which the British trade negotiations have taken, might be prepared to consider Canada's willingness to co-operate in St. Lawrence River power development as a quid pro quo for some of the concessions that the Dominion is seeking.

The Mackenzie King administration is reliably reported, however, as recognizing itself in a position of inability to agree to such a deal, in the light of the last Privy Council decisions which limited the central government's treaty-making powers where matters of provincial jurisdiction is concerned. The power which the St. Lawrence project will generate will belong to Ontario. The view of the federal cabinet, consequently, is that it cannot barter it for trade concessions without Premier Hespburn's consent. It is well known that it is hopeless to expect that Mr. Hespburn may consent.

WHOLE OUTLOOK CLOUDY

Altogether, the trade treaty situation is distinctly a clouded one, both as regards the larger tri-party project and the smaller arrangement between the republic and the Dominion. President Roosevelt and Prime Minister

King are scheduled to meet for two days next month—on August 18 at Ivy Lea and on August 19 at Sarnia—when they will open the new Thousand Islands and Blue Water international bridges. The general expectation in federal circles is that they will find an opportunity outside of their ceremonial duties to talk over the situation that has arisen. There is little optimism on Parliament Hill, however, that they will be able to find a solution which will overcome the difficulties and permit an effectively enlarged trade treaty to result from the negotiations which have been so prolonged already that their very duration advertises the obstacles which have been encountered.

Facts to Be Faced

WHEN HE WAS SPEAKING AT KETtering a few days ago, Prime Minister Chamberlain frankly admitted that there had been in Great Britain a considerable falling off in the high level of industrial activity attained last year—the highest in the history of the country—which, according to the latest statistics, meant that there are now approximately 500,000 more workers idle than 12 months ago. The official total at the end of last month is given as 1,802, 912, an increase over May of 24,107, and of these, 16 per cent had been unemployed for 12 months or longer.

One of the features of the latest returns, however, is the substantial decline in unemployment in Scotland—no doubt largely due to the acceleration of the rearmament program, which has sent numerous orders to the shipyards. It was pointed out by the Prime Minister, incidentally, that the orders for new warships placed since April, 1935, amounted to something like half the tonnage of the entire fleet as it existed at that time. Scotland has benefited more than any other part of the United Kingdom by the construction and reconstruction of ships for the navy.

In the case of Northern Ireland unemployment has developed into a very grave problem. In that small area there are 91, 636 unemployed persons. There, an exceptional depression prevails in the linen industry. It appears that the trade has been adversely affected by the war in the Orient. Probably owing to the same cause the cotton industry in Britain has suffered.
In that industry alone 142,000, or more than one-third of its insured workers, are on the unemployment register.

While there is nothing to suggest that Britain's persistent unemployment problem is likely to grow much worse, it has to be borne in mind that the present demand for labor would be substantially less were it not for the fact that armament production is finding work for large numbers of skilled workers who otherwise might be idle, or only working part time. What is worrying Britain, of course, is the inevitable slump which must follow any curtailment of this type of industrial production.

The government knows that one of Britain's most pressing needs is an expanding export market. It is true that the value of her sales to the rest of the world last year exceeded that of 1936 by $95,387,303, but the value of her purchases increased by $181,312,760, leaving the balance of trade against her for the last twelvemonth at $432,303,585. Her invisible exports—freights and insurance and profits on capital invested abroad—reduce the deficiency; but not sufficiently for economic comfort.

It is this substantial gap between the value of exports and imports which is furnishing the impetus to British statesmen to negotiate new trade pacts with as many nations as possible. They are naturally concentrating on the United States market of 130,000,000 people, because it is fully realized that the increase of 500,000 in the idle army will be satisfactorily reduced only by a substantial growth in commodity exchange, particularly with the neighboring republic.

Isolation and Pacifism

BASED HIS OBSERVATIONS ON THE assumption that "the isolationist" is the man who is not concerned with what happens to anybody else, Mr. Raymond (Gram) Swing, well-known United States journalist and news commentator on American affairs for the British Broadcasting Corporation, recently addressed a large audience in New York on "Isolation."

The speaker presented a graphic verbal picture of the isolationist and the pacifist.
He credited both of them with the desire to keep the United States out of war; but described their respective contentions as a composite agitation which has its sources in two extremely different and strangely allied forces. Mr. Swing does not quarrel with the objective of either. He emphatically warns, however, that "isolationists aren't pacifists and pacifists aren't isolationists."
This is how he draws the contrast and emphasizes the difference:

"The isolationists are people who believe in making yourself so strong that nobody will dare attack you and then staying out of other countries' quarrels. What they are against is not war as such, but war for the sake of some foreign country, or war for the sake of some principle affecting a foreign country. The isolationists are convinced that we are not of the world, and that we need not be of it."

In other words, the dogma of the isolationist breathes no brotherhood and sympathy for the fellow human being "who happens not to be an American." It does not look forward to a gradual extension of the brotherhood of man until all shall be at peace together. It is thus a narrow, strictly nonethical, morbidly suspicious, and fundamentally militarist philosophy.

It would be foolish, of course, to say that the pacifist wants war. He does not; not by any manner of means. But not because he thinks foreigners are inferior to him, but because he is against the slaughter of human lives under the sanction of patriotism. His creed is to like human beings; he does not want to kill them. His dominating belief is that human conflicts ought to be resolved in some other way. Thus if a pacifist tells Mr. Swing America must stay out of war in the world today, he will agree with him—and sympathize with him. But if an isolationist tells him the same thing he will agree with him, but he will not sympathize with him. For, as he himself points out, it is the isolationist, the hater of foreigners, the suspicious provincial, the man who does not care what happens to anybody else, who has helped to create the world as it is today.

This adds up to Mr. Swing's conclusion that "if it had not been for the isolationist we (the United States) should have been free today to work out the principles of collective security which we cannot work out. We could have gone into the League and helped change it into an instrument of justice." For it naturally follows that if no contribution is made to international justice and the establishment of peace, the right to criticize the failure of that justice and that peace no longer exists.

Up-island Conditions

IN VIEW OF THE GENERAL ALARM over conditions up-island, with discouraging effect on travel to the various vacation resorts, we think the facts in the following letter from the Qualicum Board of Trade should be emphasized here:

"At a meeting of all business men and women, held at Qualicum Beach on Wednesday, we were instructed to write the press, drawing attention of the public to these facts:

"1. The only fires of any consequence on the island are 40 miles north of Qualicum Beach.

"2. Only for two days during the month of July has there been more smoke than usual at this time of year.

"3. The Island Highway from Victoria to Qualicum Beach is clear and safe for travel, conditions being normal in every way.

"(Signed) George Lane, F. E. George, E.
D. Thwaites, committee."

What is set out in the foregoing coincides with what our staff representative reported this week in a personal survey of the whole area from Campbell River to the Albernis.
He found that only at once place, Oyster River, had the fire come within sight of the highway; also, that except at Forbes Landing, which is inland, fishing and all other vacation activities are not interfered with in the least. Far from any blaze the King Salmon are awaiting at Campbell River for all with Tyee Button ambitions.

Life Is Always Beginning

THIS MAY BE THE AGE OF YOUTH, but new vistas of enjoyment and achievement for the older man and woman have been coming in sight.

Science, medicine, the material benefits of civilization have made the last decades of a man's life more attractive on the physical plane. But quite as important has been the discovery that no real basis actually exists for the elderly person's assumption that the adventures of the mind belong only to the young.

New evidence controverting such an assumption is disclosed in a study of several thousand university extension students, young and old. The findings of the study make it plain that the average man's mental powers decline very little with age, that he often proves to be a more brilliant student than his younger classmate, and that the only obstacle to an old age filled with intellectual adventure may be ignorance of one's own capacities.

Today belongs to youth, but it belongs to age, too.

To the bomb-proof cellars, men! Another disarmament conference predicted for 1940!

This is an age of lightning transport and a round-the-world flier is home in time to catch his own take-off in the first-run movie houses.

A Boston fisherman tells of a whale taking a friend for a one-mile ride and letting him off unharmful. By the way, what has become of the Loch Ness Monster?

SOVEREIGNTY ISSUE SETTLED

From Edmonton Journal

The Journal's resident Ottawa correspondent, discussing the possibility of having Royal Air Force recruits trained in Canada, stated: "Canadian 'control' of training will, in all probability, be in a purely technical sense. There is no doubt that, technically subject to Canadian command, British recruits would be trained as the R.A.F. would have them trained and by officers they approve."

This, as the Journal has contended, is all that is necessary to sustain the Dominion's sovereignty. Details should not be difficult to work out. The precedent set by Canadian internal control of the Canadian Expeditionary Force in 1914-19, while it was under command of the British War Office, points the way. It will be remembered when the first contingent landed in England, Lord Kitchener intended to send the men to imperial units. Canada insisted they fight as Canadian units, and they did. The Dominion Government paid all expenses, and had full control in all matters of internal administration and discipline. Yet the Canadian troops overseas were under the "control" of Britain, in so far as orders for billeting, movements and fighting were concerned. The situation simply could be reversed in the case of setting up R.A.F. training schools in the Dominion.

The harmonious settlement of this technical problem of "sovereignty" now appears in sight. Fortunately so, for doubtless on extent of the training schools to be established will depend in considerable measure the number of military airplanes to be ordered by Britain for manufacture in Canada. (Contracts estimated at up to $250, 000,000 over a period of years.)

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

KIND NATURE

NATURE HAS BEEN KIND to our Island
Highway. There is hardly a mile now, between Victoria and Campbell River, that is not clothed in green foliage. Even the big forest fire seems to have respected the road. Only in one small place have the flames approached it, and, if it gets no worse, you will be able to drive the road's entire length without knowing that in the summer of 1938 200 square miles were ablaze, only a few miles off to the west.

Nature is kind, but man has no respect for the highway that he built. I like to think that my single-handed campaign, unaided by the government, which is supposed to enforce the law, drove the tin advertising signs off most of the southern stretches of the highway, though it is untrue that I personally removed the signs at night with my own little hammer. (I wish I had the nerve to do that.) Well, the signs are sprouting all along the northern stretches and the people up there are annoyed. Some day the government may enforce the law and take the advertisers into court, where they belong, as it takes other people for far less serious offences.

Worse than signs, however, is the modern litter of the highway. The road from here to its end is littered with gum packages, bits of Cellophane, beer and pop bottles. People heave them out of their cars as they go and, to increase the fire hazard and the air of general nastiness, misguided government road workers come along and cut down the small trees by the roadside and leave them there, heaped up and parched dry, ready for the first cigarette butt that falls among them.

IMMATUREITY

THIS IS ALL PART of our immaturity as a people. We have no sense of common ownership of our roads or of our woods.
Everybody is interested in the big forest fire, from the same instinct which makes children watch fire departments go by in the streets. We love excitement. But how many people realize that their own wealth and prosperity burned up, that the loss of young trees up the island is a loss to their own pocketbooks?

The people of England and the people of the European countries don't litter their highways, don't foul them as if they belonged to someone else. They have learned through thousands of years that the roads are theirs, as much their possessions as their own homes and gardens. They don't burn up their forests either. They know that their living comes out of the forest. I suppose in a thousand years we may learn these things, too. But in the meantime, like the Americans, we are a nation of destroyers and defilers.

LUXURY AND EASE

ALSO, WE ARE SHEEP. As soon as the papers published the first story about forest fires, people stopped going up the island, though the fire has never interfered with the traveler. It has only stopped people camping in the woods, and not many tourists want to do that. They want to loll on the veranda of a comfortable hotel.

I must say this is no hardship to me either. I think that at the end of a day's run, to loll on the broad veranda of the fine old English inn at Comox, looking across the great sweep of the bay at the white rim of the island mountains behind the Forbiden Plateau, is one of the chief treats that our island holds.

It is only in one or two places that we have been able to achieve the atmosphere of the English inn, which, apart from Shakespeare, and older on the south coast, is probably the highest achievement of English culture. As most of the tourists had failed to come because they heard about a fire somewhere on the island, we had the broad veranda almost to ourselves, and if someone doesn't tell the Americans that the island is open to them as usual, and the Tyees are running in Comox Bay and at Campbell River, and the inns are waiting, there will be no tourist season at all up north.

POOR TOWN

IT IS QUITE CONFUSING to go into Port Alberni after 10 years. I couldn't find my way about the place. The last time I was there you could walk up the street a block from the hotel and you were almost in the primeval forest. Now you can walk for blocks and blocks and still remain in the middle of the city. Port Alberni has had the sense to look to the future. It has built streets wide enough for a metropolis, streets wider than Government or Granville. Port Alberni is looking forward to the day when its location on the Pacific will make it our great island port, when Victoria will be a small town beside it. They have all the spirit and the enthusiasm of a growing place up there, the pioneer delight in watching expansion and development, a kind of innocent joy that we have lost. You lose that in a larger place and you miss a lot of fun.

ADOPTED BRAIN-CHILDREN

IT SEEMS THAT AN AGE without parallel in the history of art is approaching: The Composite Age.

Certainly something novel is on the horizon if the union and non-union mural painters don't get things straightened around. A tiff over who would be allowed to do the murals for the New World's Fair has been half-settled, so that the union would allow non-union painters to think up the designs, but only union artists could do the painting.

If the unionization movement spreads like this into all forms of artistic creation—half-way, with a compromise—there are certainly extraordinary times ahead. Visions arise of paintings which are the product of a non-union idea-thinker-upper, a union-color-mixer, a non-union brush-dipper, and a union applicator of paint to canvas. And maybe there'll be union-musicians playing concerts that non-union musicians have rehearsed.

And maybe there won't be any art at all.

More Motor Cars But Less Revenue

MOTOR VEHICLE registrations increased 79,578 during 1937, according to preliminary figures released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.
The total was 1,319,702 compared with 1,240,124 in 1936.
All provinces recorded gains over the previous year, the percentage of increase being as follows: Prince Edward Island, 5; Nova Scotia, 8.4; New Brunswick, 10.1; Quebec, 9; Ontario, 5.7;
Manitoba, 7.9; Saskatchewan, 2.7;
Alberta, 3.1; British Columbia,
9.7, and the Yukon Territory, 9.7.

Despite the gain noted in the number of motor vehicles registered, the revenues were lower, amounting to $25,993,905 compared with $26,493,922. The drop was accounted for by a decline in Ontario's registration revenues, due to the decrease in the rates, the total for that province being $9,043,538 compared with $11,144,956. The remaining provinces were advanced over 1936.
The nine provinces of the Dominion reported higher collections of the gasoline tax, which totalled $38,373,947 compared with $34,532,436 in 1936.

DELICATE SITUATION

To the Editor:—Your editorial on the desirability of a strong stand being made by the great democracies against Germany made cheerful reading.

I had been reading an account of the disastrous effect of the 40-hour week on French industries, which was not so cheerful, especially as applied to rearmament.
The following remarks are from a signed article in L'Illustration, of Paris:

"Rearmament occupies 60 per cent of the 15,000,000 German workers. Against 35,000 French workers employed in aviation, there are 100,000 German and 80,000 Italian workers. M. Guy La Chambre has recently declared before a Parliamentary Commission that in the coming year we hope to turn out 250 airplanes a month. In the meanwhile our production is 40 to 50 machines against 300 in Germany, and 200 in Italy. Our airplanes cost three times in money and time as the German, Italian or British planes. With us a plane requires 3,000 hours labor, in other countries 3,000. With a budget one-half less, Italy excels us in quantity and quality. A warship costs 30,000 francs a ton in France, in Italy 7,000 francs.
With the money we spend we ought to be three times better armed. The rise in prices and the slowness of the factories are a constant cause of delay. We are short of skilled labor."

(L'Illustration, July 2, page 314.) France counts but little on assistance from Russia, as that country deserted her allies in 1917, and made a separate peace with Germany. What she did once she is liable to do again. For Russia to attack Germany she must pass through Poland, which means 33,000,000 Poles throwing in their lot with Germany. Better leave Russia out of all your calculations.

The Italian army may not amount to much, but it should be good enough to mop up Tunis, Algiers and Morocco, and cause
France great trouble.

Altogether the situation is very delicate, and calls for cautious handling. Peace must be kept as long as possible.

CAT CENSUS

To the Editor:—Published statement of a local summer school lecturer on Bird Preservation that "there are 78,000,000 stray cats on this continent" naturally raises the question, who conducted the census? And stray cats at that!
Also the lecturer states that all pet cats found without bells on should be shot.

That anyone's pet pussy, inadvertently out for a walk without its bell on should be summarily shot, sounds to me like Fascism.

Letters to the Editor

WATER BILL ANNOYS

To the Editor:—I enclose a copy of letter sent to the mayor and council which in the interest of efficient and correct accounting in the public service I make public. I have received an unsatisfactory reply from the water rate collector. He says nothing about meters getting clogged with corrosion, and going around in an improper manner, as I mentioned in my letter to the council. Nor does he give any excuse why I should be charged at the rate of $8.16 per 1,000 gallons, when they can sell water to Saanich at less than 10 cents per 1,000 gallons.

ALFRED WIGGS,
836 Old Esquimalt Road.

AIRCRAFT CONTRACTS

To the Editor:—It appears that attention has to be drawn to the iniquitous character of those aircraft contracts which are likely to be offered to Canadian firms. The planes to be constructed are, one understands, heavy bombers, which cannot by any argument be conceived as means of defence. They are for purposes of retaliation upon possible attack. If people in an English city are bombed, they are supposed to be consoled by the knowledge that the people in an enemy city are getting theirs; they should rather be wiped out than resort to the same dastardly tactics. Our financiers and manufacturers should prefer to remain poor rather than engage in an industry that has for its end mass murder. Our workmen should prefer to be without employment and even to have their children starve than to have the blood of the members of other homes upon their hands. If the planes are not used, they are a barren misuse of God's materials; if they are used some day, they are a turning of God's gifts to destruction. We shall pay the price some time of waste and criminal use.

How can newspapers in a supposedly Christian land gloat over the prospect of our making for gain what will likely be used in the future to rain death from the sky upon brothers and sisters for whom, as well as for us, Christ died?

FORETELLING DEATH DATE

To the Editor:—To follow up recent references to New Church (Swedenborgian) teachings, a pertinent question seems to be, what is the mysterious element in human nature that prevents the greatly to be desired interest in them? This is answered partly by the following "Parallel Thoughts": Thomas Carlyle, who before reading the works, gave prejudiced opinions of them, later wrote, "I have since made personal acquaintance with the man (meaning Swedenborg's writings) and have reflected for myself on the singular appearance he makes in the world, and the notable message he was sent to deliver to his fellow creatures."

From the Arcana Celestia: "He who by his own investigations has not acquired for himself some ideas concerning these things, receives but a faint idea, if any, from description; for a man receives only so much from others as he either has of his own, or acquires for himself by looking into the matter in himself; all the rest passes away."

Wesley was not the only person to whom Swedenborg announced the date of his death. He also predicted the deaths of others, if we accept some of the stories that have come down to us. (Kant satisfied himself as to several such stories.) Here is one which is attributed to Dr. Scherer, professor of French and English at Tübingen:

"Swedenborg was one morning in company in Stockholm when, after his information about the world of spirits had been heard with the greatest attention, they put him to the proof as to the credibility of his extraordinary spiritual communications. The test was this: 'He should state which of the company would die first.' Swedenborg did not refuse to answer this question, but after some time, in which he appeared to be in profound and silent meditation, he quite openly replied, 'Olof Olofsohn will die tomorrow morning at 45 minutes past 4 o'clock.' By this predictive declaration, which was pronounced by Swedenborg with all confidence, the company were placed in anxious expectation, and a gentleman who was a friend of Olof Olofsohn resolved to go on the following morning, at the time mentioned by Swedenborg, to the house of Olofsohn, to see whether Swedenborg's prediction was fulfilled. On the way thither he met the well-known servant of Olofsohn, who told him that his master had just died; a fit of apoplexy had seized him, and had suddenly put an end to his life. At the same time this particular circumstance also attracted attention—the clock in Olofsohn's dwelling apartment stopped at the very minute in which he had expired, and the hand pointed to the time."

MYSTICISM VS. EVOLUTION

To the Editor:—It is rather amusing to read the opinions of Mr. C. Madden and his like-minded friends, while unable to answer God's challenge: "Explain, apart from the Creator, the origin of life," beat around the bush to "save their face," seeking to ridicule instead the millions of believers in the Bible, among whom are many of the highest educated men and women!

What is that Mysticism of which the believers are accused? Webster tells us that it is a doctrine held by those who maintain that they have direct intercourse with the divine Spirit, and acquire a knowledge of spiritual things unattainable by the natural intellect. I do not know if Webster was an agnostic or a believer, at any rate, even if this definition should not be the proper one it is very close to God's estimation of a Christian as he is described in His Word, the Bible!

A very enlightening portion of that book is the 1st Epistle to the Corinthians, the first four chapters, where, among other very true things, one reads: "But the natural man (the unbeliever) receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God; for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them because they are spiritually discerned." In Ephesians 2 we read: "For through Him (Christ), we (believers) have access by one spirit unto the Father (God)—therefore we are no more strangers and foreigners—but of the household of God." In Romans: "The Spirit (of God) Himself beareth witness with our spirit, that we (believers) are the children of God; and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ."

Can your correspondents who have used our name in their recent letters still wonder that we will not give up our faith in our "great God of wonders" in exchange for any man-made theory, and least of all for that unproved and not-to-be-proved theory called "Evolution?"

How could any Christian give up his solid rock foundation, which is Christ, for the soft ground and mud of agnosticism after having been lifted up out of the darkness of "the pit and out of the miry clay" into God's marvelous light, and out of death into eternal life?

Better Teaching In Sciences Urged

WASHINGTON—Science, important through its applications in every phase of the daily lives of all the people, deserves a larger place in general education, is the belief of a newly organized special committee of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. But to win that place, science teaching must be brought to a maximum of efficiency and interest.

The new body, titled the Committee on Improvement of Science in General Education, has as its chairman Prof. Lloyd W. Taylor of Oberlin College. Six special objectives are stated:

1. To clarify and define the problems involved in teaching the sciences as a part of the program of general education.

2. To develop a more scientific approach upon problems of science teaching; that is, to promote experimentation; to collect evidence, to encourage the use of procedures justified on the basis of organized and evaluated evidence in contrast to opinions, untested assumptions, and uncritical acceptance of traditional practices.

3. To disseminate information about the committee's work, and to secure constructive criticism by means of discussion groups in college and university centres, by participation in programs, and by such other means as may be found effective.

4. To obtain and to use financial support for such work in the sciences as gives promise of being effective in improving the teaching of science in general education.

5. To serve as a clearing house for co-ordinating the activities of the several agencies now working on parts of the whole problem, and new agencies which may be initiated for the improvement of science teaching.

6. To act in any advisory capacity on any studies approved by it and supported through it; to

Nazi Party Men

Germany's Real Rulers

By PETER STURSBURG

AUSTRIA.

YOU DON'T HAVE to haunt chancelleries or study treatises on economy to find out who are the real rulers of Germany.

You see them walking the streets of every town and village with their National Socialist Party badges on their coat lapels, and they look very much like rotarians. I went down into the working class districts of some of the great cities, into the Flor-dorf district in Vienna, and I seldom saw a working man wearing a swastika.

When I was in Germany I had the good fortune to spend a couple of days as the guest of a member of the National Socialist Party. He was a doctor, and I think a man who had joined the party because he genuinely believed in its program. At any rate his opinion on world affairs may be taken as the general opinion of the rank and file Nazi.

Once we were discussing the many nations through which the Danube flows, and he said to me that all these little states would have to go, would have to be dissolved into one great state.

As far as the Orient was concerned, I gathered there was a yellow peril. If the Europeans and the white races generally were not careful, they would be conquered by the Asiatics. This did not seem to be in keeping with the German alliance with

Japan, but he pointed out that the yellow peril was in China, evidently because of that country's huge population.

One thing the average German,

and for that matter the average require and co-ordinate reports of such studies; and to provide for publication of the findings.

European, cannot understand is that we have no conscription, no enforced military service whatsoever in Canada.

"No conscription?" my Nazi friend said. "Ah, but you will have it, just as you will have Fascism and Bolshevism."

When I picked up a magazine showing Hitler in a heroic pose above a small snout-nosed car, he told me of the Volkswagen, the $200 car. No, the car was not in production yet, but they had brought out the first one to show the Jews what they could do.

A mighty nation has to show a weak shattered race what it can do! And yet his remark typified the new Germany. On the surface the Nazis are bombastic and chauvinistic to the nth degree,

but underneath it all they are suffering from a terrific inferiority complex.

All the time I was in Germany

the newspapers were hammering at Czechoslovakia with heavy black headlines underlined with red ink. Of course the Czechs were threatening the fatherland.

But instead of working the people into a patriotic fervor, they made them afraid of the Czechs.

I remember when I was looking at a map I had of central Europe on the train, a young fellow sitting next to me peered over my shoulder.

"Why," he said, "Czechoslovakia is not so big after all."

CHINESE SHOW FOR REFUGEES

One-act Play Feature of Entertainment at High School

Chinese actors and entertainers excelled themselves last evening in a colorful program presented before a near capacity house at the Victoria High School by the Chinese Canadian Youth Forum in aid of war refugees in China.

In opening the evening of entertainment, Dean Spencer H. Elliott expressed the wish that the object of the gathering might be one of a more cheerful nature. He said that it was horrible to think of the millions in such great need in China today and he praised the Chinese Canadian Youth Forum for the work they were doing in bringing some aid to the sufferers. It was difficult for persons so far away from the strife in China to realize the need of help and just how much territory had been taken by the Japanese.

Dean Elliott mentioned Major Bullock-Webster who had assisted in the dramatic part of the program, and he explained the difference in Chinese dramatics from the western style. The Chinese form of presenting a play showed a strength in acting rather than a scenic display. The scenery was kept simple as in Shakespearean times with more emphasis on costuming.

PLAY FEATURED

A one act play, "The Thrice Promised Bride," by Cheng Chin Hsiung and directed by A. MacCorkindale, featured the evening program. The play was a revival of an ancient work of Chinese art typical of their drama. The cast included: Ruth Lee, bride; Maurice Chan, beggar scholar; Bessie Hope, matchmaker; Dora Hope, mother; William Chow, old man; Jack Tang, knight; Herbert Chan, Dune merchant; Mun Hope, secretary; May Lee, first attendant; Daisy Lee, second attendant; and Joni McLaren, magistrate. The property man was Albert Yuen whose appearance on the stage with the actors throughout the play emphasized the difference between Chinese drama style and western presentations.

The musical portion of the program included both Chinese and western performances. Little eight-year-old Winnie Ngan was a special favorite with the audience in a dainty toe dance. Miss Bessie Hope showed a flare for western forms of dancing and singing in her presentations of a tap dance and in singing in a professional manner the popular, "Love Walked Right In." Jack Tang and Young Wah presented the ancient Chinese ritual, "Lion's Dance," to the steady beat of drums and the clashing of cymbals.

OTHER NUMBERS

Other numbers included: Albert Price and his Mandarins; violin solo, "Gavotte from Mignon," by Phillip Chan accompanied by Miss Ursula Hills; piano duet, Mable Chan and Gladys Chan; comedy tap dance, Margaret Mar; recitation, Cordelia Lee; solo, Muriel Thompson; Russian dance, Mable Wong; acrobatic dance, Phyllis Beschizza and Lorne Ritchie. Kathleen Irving acted as official accompanist.

Several short comical sketches were presented which included "How to Write a Scenario," Archie MacCorkindale and Joni McLaren; "Cauliflower Ballet," Joni McLaren, Christopher Frere and Archie MacCorkindale; "Pierrotti," Robert Lindgren; "Ah," Progressive Arts Club; and "Murder at the Microphone," Pat Fairweather, Christopher Frere and Tom Wylie.

A number of attractive Chinese girls dressed in striking native costumes acted as usherettes.

Mun Hope addressed the gathering on behalf of the Chinese Canadian Youth Forum and explained the organizing of the forum which took place about a year ago. The object of the forum, he said, was to improve relations between the different races.

Consul C. H. Pao, Vancouver, spoke briefly during an intermission.

An application has been received from the residents of Cedar Hill Road to have the street filled on account of the dust. A dressing of oil will be given.

The wild west show which was to have played here was stranded in Denver a few days ago, when its assets were seized by a number of creditors.

The difficult problem of the transfer of the telephone wires downtown to a conduit system has been the subject of consideration.

Britain Develops New Escort Vessel

WASHINGTON—Great Britain has built two, is building a third and has authorized construction of a fourth and fifth escort vessel of novel type specially designed to meet the enemy aerial menace to its supply ships and merchant vessels.

Entirely equipped with anti-aircraft guns, the tiny vessels are a part of the British navy's answer to the recently demonstrated effectiveness of aircraft against unarmed merchant and supply ships.

They recall, in principle at least, a proposed 10,000-ton "floating anti-aircraft battery," suggested at least once in every maritime nation, including the United States, as a means of protecting giant aircraft carriers, which necessarily cannot carry heavy armament.

Fitted with six four-inch anti-aircraft guns and five smaller ones, the Bittern and the Enchantress, the two already completed, are small, displacing a little less than 1,200 tons. The Egret, an improved version of the Bittern, is under construction, while two vessels of the Black Swan class are authorized.

Properly, these new vessels and the armament on American fighting craft focus attention on anti-aircraft guns, whose effectiveness has improved enormously during recent years.

The main advantage possessed by the 10,000-ton floating anti-aircraft battery would be its improved steadiness as a gun platform on clear days after a storm, when enemy planes can fly about even though the sea is still extremely rough. On the other hand, five destroyers cost less, require fewer men and in addition can be used more strategically as well as performing other functions.

The U.S. is building no escort vessels similar to the new British type. The American navy, it is believed, will continue to use destroyers. The new type craft of this class carry eight five-inch anti-aircraft guns as well as 10 A.A. machine guns.

Pennsylvania has about 200 Indians who are a floating population, leaving the reservation now and again to join wild west shows, circuses, or to sell goods.

Bachelor Has No Use For Rich Girls

Wealthy New Yorker Can't See Why They Take Jobs

NEW YORK (CP)—William McChesney Martin Jr., 31-year-old president of the New York Stock Exchange and a "regretful" bachelor, sat down in his guarded air-conditioned office, hunched his knees against the desk, and confessed to a weakness for the simple life. First paid president of the exchange, he gets $48,000 a year for it.

"I haven't any expensive habits," he said. "He neither smokes nor drinks; doesn't keep a car in New York. I like to go to the theatre, but I go by myself and usually sit in the balcony. I used to play tennis three or four times a week at Forest Hills. Lately I've been too busy."

Rich girls disturb him. "Barbara Hutton," he says, "has done more to destroy American capitalism than any other individual." That's pretty heated for anyone as gentle as Mr. Martin. He gets cross, too, about rich girls who take jobs so they can say they're earning money.

A flend for work, Mr. Martin doesn't act like a go-getter. He moves slowly, speaks slowly, smiles often—but slowly. Social life doesn't interest him but he's being asked around quite a bit, now that he's in the limelight. He says he would like to travel every day of his life.

DANCE WORE HIM DOWN

Last March he went on a Mediterranean cruise. He had been putting in 20-hour work days helping draft the exchange's new constitution, he said, so after it was over, he went aboard ship and spent the first three days sleeping.

"I didn't speak to anybody for seven days," he reflected. "I ate at a table by myself. I was pretty sick of talking to people by then. One night toward the end of the cruise, I asked a girl to dance, then couldn't get away until 1:30. I was completely worn down. It was his second trip abroad. In 1927, after his junior year at Yale, he went on a European tour.

Mr. Martin has never come to consider New York home, though he's been here seven years now—ever since he purchased a membership in the Stock Exchange. He lives at the Yale Club because he likes to think he's here only temporarily. St. Louis is his home, but he doesn't get there more than once a month.

The son of well-to-do parents—his father is president of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis—Mr. Martin says he gives most of his money away.

He gets annoyed with people who accuse him of straddling the fence. Though he tries to be unemotional in his analysis of economic trends, he says that doesn't prevent him from having "convictions of his own."

Only half the age of most of the past leaders of the exchange, Martin is in office "as long as the board wants me."

Queen Marie's Will Has Message

Leaves Castle to King Carol;
Other Legacies

BUCHAREST (CP-Havas)—To a grieving nation today was revealed the last message of Dowager Queen Marie who died last week at the age of 63.

The undated "spiritual testament," which was accompanied by a will registered June 29, 1933, disposing of her property to charities, her family and her friends, asked Roumania to remember her lovingly by the name it had given her during the Great War, "Mother of All."

The letter recalled the first arrival in Roumania of the 17-year-old princess, granddaughter of Queen Victoria and bride of Prince Ferdinand, "without experience but proud of my British birth."

"When I adopted Roumanian nationality, however, I strove to be a good Roumanian," she wrote.

To King Carol the Queen left her Calice Castle. The revenues of other properties will be divided between charitable societies and the personnel of her house. An income of 120,000 French francs ($4,500) was set aside for her sister, the Grand Duchess Victoria Melita of Russia. Other legacies were granted to her son, Prince Nicholas, and to her daughter, Queen-Mother Marie of Yugoslavia.

To another daughter, the Hapsburg Archduchess Ileana, she left the Castle of Bran, with the obligation of sheltering on its grounds a branch of the Young Women's Christian Association.

J. S. Woodsworth Has Birthday

EDMONTON (CP)—Birthday congratulations were extended to J. S. Woodsworth, M.P. for Winnipeg North Centre, by delegates to the national convention of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation today.

Born in Toronto, Mr. Woodsworth celebrated his 64th birthday. The grey-bearded leader of the Socialist movement, still slim and sprightly, will deliver his major address to the convention tonight. He has been president of the federation since July, 1932, when it was first organized in Calgary, and has been a member of the House of Commons since 1921.

Pope Denounces Racial Barriers

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—A Vatican news service today quoted Pope Pius XI as denouncing racialism and exaggerated nationalism "barriers raised between men and men—people and people."

It said the Pontiff's declaration was part of a long speech delivered yesterday at Castel Gandolfo to a group of students of the College of Propagation of the Faith.

Distinguished Women At Council Meeting

International Gathering Held in Historic Hall in Edinburgh; 31 Countries Represented, Including Canadian Delegates

Many distinguished and interesting women from all parts of the world have been attending the meetings of the International Council of Women in Edinburgh, Scotland, according to Miss Lillian Gibbons, a member of the staff of the Winnipeg Tribune, who is holidaying abroad and attended the opening sessions.

IN HISTORIC HALL

The place of meeting is the Assembly Hall of the Church of Scotland, a smoke-blackened, turreted building on The Mound, the hill that overlooks Princess Street. A few steps farther up The Mound is Edinburgh Castle, where Mary Queen of Scots bore Prince James who became James VI of Scotland and James I of England.

Isobel Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair, who founded the National Council of Canada when she was chateleine of Rideau Hall, Ottawa, in 1897 was an outstanding figure at the convention and took a keen interest in the deliberations despite her advancing years. Miss Mary McGachy, of Geneva, who spoke several times in Victoria a few years ago, was also present.

CANADIANS THERE

Head of the Canadian delegation is Mrs. George O. Spencer, Moncton, N.B., the president of the National Council of Women. Other Canadian delegates, making the quota of 10, are: Mrs. James R. Roberts, Hamilton; Mrs. Harold Oxley, Halifax; Miss Gorgene Faulkner, Halifax; Mrs. J. S. Delahaye, Kingston; Mrs. Thomas Bingham, Vancouver; Mrs. J. A. Turnbull, Vancouver; Dr. Jean Rees MacLeod, Winnipeg; Miss Constance Hayward, Moncton; Miss A. C. Hay, Hamilton.

MRS. A. WATT

Another delegate was Mrs. Alfred Watt, M.B.E., London, a Canadian by birth, first woman to take an M.A. from the University of Toronto, who came to Great Britain to found Women's Institutes; today there are 500,000 institutes with 3,500,000 members. Mrs. Watt, a pretty little woman with snowy hair, dressed entirely in mulberry, hat, coat, dress, gloves and beads, told the women the story of the W.I.'s birth in Canada, at Stoney Creek, Ont., in 1897.

From that humble beginning, said Mrs. Watt, the Associated Country Women of the World sprang, with a million rural members "in the lonely places of the earth."

"During the last year 15,615 letters came into our office with stamps from many nations; 13,804 went out with cheer, help and encouragement."

FROM MANY COUNTRIES

The 31 countries that have sent delegates, are: Argentine, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Bulgaria, Canada, Chili, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, Holland, Hungary, India, Ireland, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Roumania, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland, United States and Yugoslavia. Federated National Councils in Burma, China, Japan and Peru were unable to send delegates this year.

The councils in Germany and Austria have been forced to disband. Czechoslovakia is proud to be present with 28 delegates and members, headed by Mme. Plaminkova, member of the senate of her country, and an international vice-president of the I.C.W.

Argentine sent one member, Senorita Gisele Shaw, whose grandfather was a Scot. India has two women with beautiful olive complexions, gossamer shawls on their heads and wearing the native dresses. Scotland sent many of her women in the kilts of their clan to add to the picturesque of the international assembly.

"Coffee, made in the Scottish way and sweetened with Demarara sugar, loosened all tongues at the informal reception held the night before the conference opened. It was a modern Tower of Babel, plus plenty of English accent. Nearly all the foreign delegates speak English, most without a trace of native accent. Such an one is Countess Daisy di Robilant, leader of the Italian delegation. This is her first visit to Great Britain but she learned the language from an English governess," she told Miss Gibbons.

Noted Dolls Shown In New York

NEW YORK (CP)—Competing with royal miniatures at the National Doll and Toy Collectors' exhibit held here recently was "Nellie," a six-inch rag doll in the faded khaki uniform of an aviator, who was in the Antarctic with the second Byrd expedition as well as in the Arctic last year on the Hudson's Bay Company's ship, the Nascopie.

"Nellie" was by far the most traveled of all the dolls on exhibit; interesting travels they must be, too, as "Nellie's" biography has been written, though not published, and the airman mascot is valued by his owner, Mrs. Evelyn Adams of Connecticut, at $15,000.

Other miniatures which attracted much attention were a group of the British Royal Family. The King was resplendent in the scarlet of the Coldstream Guards, while his daughters, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, delineated accurately even to their curly hair, were garbed in copies of garments worn by the little princesses.

Three modern dolls revealed superb artistry. One portrayed the Madonna, in a golden coronet and a gold-embroidered cape of Madonna blue. Another is a Flemish lady in an authentic costume of bottle-green velvet, and the third is an Egyptian queen in a pleated, square-necked white gown, with a full set of turquoise and silver jewelry. They are valued at $200 each.

Comic and character dolls were numerous. "An English Toff" caricatured that type of Briton given to monocles, white spats and high collars. "Arriet" is a pretentious Cockney, buxum in purple velvet and a plumed black hat, with rows of pearl buttons banding her jacket and skirt. In another case and another class, a wooden hillbilly from Arkansas smirks at the visitors.

Finest doll of the show was a half-inch Mexican caballero in full regalia.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. Is it important that a house guest not leave any of his belongings behind when he leaves his hostess's house?

2. Should a house guest leave the newspaper he has just read scattered over the floor?

3. Should a guest who smokes in bed be very careful so as not to burn a sheet or blanket?

4. Should a young girl who is spending a week-end with friends take her entertainment in her own hands—and use her friend's cottage as she would a hotel?

5. Should a week-end guest fit himself into the schedule of the household—or expect it to be changed to suit him?

You are a hostess living in a summer cottage and have invited guests for the week-end who care nothing for active sports—not even swimming—

(a) Plan to entertain them in some other way?

(b) You go ahead and swim, play tennis and golf as always, and let them look out for themselves?

(c) Insist that they take part in the sports you usually go in for?

Answers

1. Yes.

2. No. An untidy guest is a trial to most hostesses.

3. Yes.

4. Not if she ever wants to be invited back.

5. Do as the family does. Best "What Would You Do" solution—(a).

Japanese Slap Two U.S. Men at Chefoo

CHEFOO, China (AP)—Harry Clark, United States army reservist, and Albert Wilkins, employee of a Chicago hotel, reported to the United States consulate here Friday they had been halted and slapped by a Japanese naval patrol Tuesday. The two Americans said they had violated the curfew, requiring "all to be off the streets by 11 p.m., but explained they were new arrivals and unaware of the regulation.

Father Hubbard

Uses Skin Canoe

BARROW, Alaska (AP)—Father Bernard Hubbard, S.J., Alaska's "glacier priest," sailed 700 miles in a primitive 40-foot skin canoe through Bering Sea and the Arctic Ocean without encountering a single iceberg.

But, Father Hubbard said today, he and his party of eight men encountered such stormy weather on their 20-day voyage they never would have survived if they had had a more modern craft.

He recalled 35 up-to-date ships have been wrecked on the hazardous shoals of Seahorse Island.

The native skin boat is semirigid and warps with the motion of the water, Father Hubbard explained.

B.C. Log Cut For 6 Months Is Down

A drop of 108,457,998 board feet in British Columbia's saw log scale for the first six months of this year is reported by the provincial forestry department. The cut for this year to the end of June was 1,167,609,661 board feet compared with 1,276,067,659 during the same period last year. The June cut was 309,107,708 board feet compared with 362,268,902 for June, 1937. In the six months period there were 5,294,605 lineal feet of poles and piling handled, 78,145 cords of firewood and 618,966 pieces of hewn ties. The handle of poles and piling represented an approximate drop of 750,000 feet, while the tie total gained. CYCLOTRON AIDS DISEASE FIGHT

Atom-smashing Instrument Renders Elements Radio-active

BERKELEY, Cal.—A number of mankind's worst disease enemies, among them cancer, heart disease, and leukemia, may find themselves smashed by the cyclotron along with the atoms that are disintegrated in this new, powerful tool of modern physics.

Dr. E. O. Lawrence, inventor of the cyclotron, and others of his staff, Drs. Donald Cooksey and Joseph G. Hamilton, in charge of the cyclotron in the Radiation Laboratory of the University of California here, are naturally very cautious in talking about this phase of their work.

A new lead for the treatment of leukemia, however, has already appeared as a result of cyclotron studies—or rather as a result of studies made by Dr. John H. Lawrence, with phosphorus made radioactive in the cyclotron.

More accurate tests for Addison's disease and Cushing's disease and a method of gauging the heart's efficiency at pumping blood through the body and even perhaps of detecting the degree of damage in one type of heart disease are other recent developments of the cyclotron's power as a medical tool.

One of the big hopes arising from the cyclotron's ability to smash and alter atoms is that this giant tool of science may be able to aid in the treatment of cancer. How this is so goes back to those tiny building blocks out of which atoms of all materials—human or otherwise—are constructed.

X-rays and gamma rays from radium, two most common means of treating cancer by radiation, owe their destructive action on cancer cells to the electrons they create in the cell by ionization.

The cyclotron brings to this picture another and more strongly ionizing particle. This is the proton, caused by the bombardment of atoms in the target of the cyclotron with neutrons. These protons produce from 160 to 1,000 times as much ionization in a given distance as do electrons.

The large and complicated molecules of protein that make up living tissue may have as many as 500,000 atoms in them. A proton, striking such a large molecule, would have a much better chance of producing several ionization centres than would an electron. The more ionization centres, the greater destruction of the cell, which in the case of cancer, means the better the chance for cure.

Cyclotron rays may never prove a practical substitute for X-rays or radium in treating cancer, but another of the cyclotron's products, artificially radioactive elements, might prove helpful cancer weapons. Medical scientists have long hoped to discover cancer-killing chemicals that would go directly to the cancer after being injected or swallowed, without harming any normal tissues on the way. Some chemicals do have an affinity for one part of the body over all other parts, and if these substances could be given radioactivity, they might provide means of curing cancers in internal organs, for example, which are hard to treat otherwise.

Phosphorus is not the only element that can be made radioactive in the cyclotron. Sodium, best known as a constituent of our table salt, can also be endowed with radioactivity. The activity of these substances is, fortunately, shortlived, so that it is perfectly safe to give small amounts of artificially radioactive salt to a patient. Because it is radioactive, it can be detected no matter where it goes in the body.

Injection of such a radioactive salt into a vein gives an accurate method of determining the rapidity with which the heart pumps blood through the body. By this means it might be possible to determine, in disease of the heart's valves, how much mechanical obstruction there is to the heart's work and the blood flow. Tests made with these new radioactive materials may replace some of the older tests of body function during disease, it appears. For example, in Addison's disease, the ailment which discolors the skin and weakens the patient till he looks like a wasted bronze skeleton, sodium is lost from the body more rapidly than normal. Part of the treatment consists in replacing this lost sodium, to prevent a deficit. Tests with radioactive or tagged atoms should help here because they can show more accurately than any other test the rate at which salt is being lost.

Cancer Funds Aid Disease Fighters

WASHINGTON—More clinical and research fighters against cancer, $200,000 worth of radium for cancer use, funds for a survey of clinics, and a new attack on the dangers of putting radium paint on watch dials were among the anti-cancer moves approved by the National Advisory Cancer Council meeting here.

Seventeen physicians, two of them women and one a negro, were given clinical fellowships for a year to enable them to become more expert in diagnosis and treatment of the disease. Surgeon General Farran of the U.S. Public Health Service also announced the appointment of 10 research fellows in the government's drive against cancer.

Radium to the extent of 9½ grams, costing $200,000, is being purchased and will be loaned for therapeutic purposes throughout the various states.

A new instrument that will detect a millionth of a gram of radioactive material will be used in a new phase of the investigation of women watch-dial painters which Dr. Harrison S. Martland, Newark, N.J., chief medical examiner, has conducted for many years. The government is implementing this research in the hope that earlier detection of radium poisoning will result, allowing more hope of avoiding the dangers in this industry.

Hospitals and clinics for the treatment of cancer will be surveyed under a grant of $6,600 to the American College of Surgeons. This will speed the work already under way by the national organization of surgeons. Already there are 221 approved cancer centres, with 50 more in line for approval. A hundred other hospitals and clinics have indicated their desire to treat cancer in a major way and the federal funds will speed this development.

The University of Chicago received $7,500 for investigation of various phases of research work, including stomach cancer, the effect of hormones and chemical substances in cancer tissues.

SCHOOL TENDERS ARE CONSIDERED

Tenders for fuel supplies and work which will be carried out during the summer vacation season were considered yesterday by the City School Board.

The coal tender was awarded Walter Walker and Sons. Bids for the supply of cordwood were referred to the building and grounds committee for report, as were tenders for repaving the Central Junior High School roof, ploughing playgrounds near St. James Douglas School and for electrical work in the Central Junior High School drafting room.

Canadian Fairbanks-Morse was awarded the tender for supplying an electric clock charger at the Victoria High School at a price of $43.75. Bids for High School equipment were referred to the education committee and municipal school inspector.

Distribution of $62,000 worth of insurance in 10 policies, written by firms no longer represented here, among nine other

Juan de Fuca Story To Be Broadcast

HOLLYWOOD — British Columbia and Puget Sound will find themselves in the lime light Sunday afternoon, July 31, when, on his weekly "Strange As It Seems" broadcast at 12.30 p.m. NBC network, John Hix will present a playlet dramatizing the strange manner in which the Strait of Juan de Fuca acquired its name.

As Hix will reveal in this sketch, the famous waterway was imagined through pure guesswork by De Fuca and was solemnly given his name many years before it was actually discovered by another man and found to conform almost perfectly to the imaginary description.

Roosevelt Third Term Is Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator R. D. Holt (Democrat, West Virginia) an administration critic, said today he would ask the 1939 Senate to express formal opposition to a third term for President Roosevelt.

Holt explained the resolution would be similar to one which the Senate passed while Calvin Coolidge was President in 1928. That resolution was introduced by Senator La Follette (Progressive, Wisconsin) and was considered after Coolidge had issued his famous "I do not choose to run" statement.

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Federal Bureau of Investigation agents today took charge of Leland Bradley, 46, fugitive South Dakota and Iowa robber accused of dynamiting an associate to death New Year's eve in 1937. Bradley, arrested in a hayfield, near here, Wednesday, said he would fight extradition to Sioux Falls, S.D., and Sioux City, Iowa.

Shortage of Horses In Saskatchewan
REGINA (CP) — Farmers of Saskatchewan facing an extreme shortage of horses as a result of spread of deadly brain disease are preparing in some districts to run their tractors on a community basis through two or three shifts as a means of harvesting the crop.

With the harvest only a few days distant in some sections, many farmers are confronted with a serious shortage of power. Hundreds of horses have died to date and hundreds more are still afflicted with the disease, although according to officials of the department of agriculture spread of the disease is not now as acute and appears to have been checked.

BRITISH BY-ELECTION
LONDON (CP) — The East Willesden House of Commons seat remained in the Conservative standing today following S. S. Hammersley's defeat of Maurice Orbach, Labor, in a straight party contest. Mr. Hammersley polled 16,009 votes yesterday against 12,278 for his Labor opponent. In the 1935 general election, D. G. Somersville, Conservative, received 25,613 votes against 15,523 for Mr. Orbach, and 3,217 for Miss N. S. Parnell, Liberal.

Australia Pact Scored In Britain

LONDON (CP) — The National Union of Manufacturers yesterday wrote the Board of Trade, denouncing the government's trade agreement with Australia, which continues the United Kingdom-Australia agreement for the present. The original agreement was arrived at during the 1937 Ottawa economic conference.

The union's letter declared: "In dealing with the Dominions and India on matters of trade, this country appears to suffer from an inferiority complex."

"The net result of the discussions (with Australian cabinet ministers) appears to be that the one-sided Ottawa agreement which admits Australian goods to this market free of duty but allows Australia to charge such duties as she thinks fit on United Kingdom goods is to remain for the present in force with the exception that a safeguard inserted into that agreement for the protection of United Kingdom industry now is to be treated as a dead letter."

"It is to be hoped that while the Australian ministers are reviewing the position of their secondary industries, the Board of Trade will review the position of the United Kingdom industries engaged in export trade; that they will, with the assistance of some men of business experience, endeavor to formulate a trade policy that will be fair to this country as well as to the Dominions; and that they will associate some men of business experience with official representatives in any discussions or negotiations that may take place in the future."

Archaeologists Find Armageddon's Wall

CHICAGO — Armageddon, famed battlefield of the ancient world and the site of the battle at the end of the world according to biblical prophecy, was a walled city as early as 3,000 B.C., it has been determined by excavations of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago.

During the digging season at Armageddon, in the Near East, archaeologists uncovered some 150 feet of a great stone wall, 15 feet high and 24 feet wide, according to Gordon Loud, field director of the expedition, who has just returned.

This wall of an ancient city was found at the 18th level of culture. Bedrock is immediately below the 20th level of culture represented in the great mound at Armageddon. Small caves had been dug in the bedrock of soft limestone, the expedition found, which were probably used as granaries and storage bins. They represent a level of culture dating back approximately to 3,500 B.C.

In level No. 19, some 5,000 years ago, there was found a large ornamented flagstone pavement in which were outline carvings of horned animals. Some of these animals are depicted with excessively long tails completely out of proportion with any known animals. The grotesque paving leads to a rough mud brick building which is believed to be a shrine. Further excavations must yet be made before this can be determined with certainty, however.

The great wall found in level 18 shows remarkable ability at stone facing and fitting, says Mr. Loud. The outer faces are carefully constructed while the central portion consists merely of loose stone and rubble tossed in a fill. Originally the wall was but 12 feet thick. Later its thickness apparently was doubled.

Man Threatened U.S. President

KANSAS CITY (AP) — John Dean, 65, pleaded guilty before a United States commissioner here yesterday to sending two letters to Washington threatening the life of President Roosevelt.

The United States district attorney's office said one of the letters contained the threat: "I feel I must come to Washington to kill you for the sake of my country, and I love my country passionately."

Dean was placed in the county jail after failing to make a bond of $10,000.

REHIRING RECOMMENDED

WASHINGTON (AP) — A United States labor bureau trial examiner ruled today the Ford Motor Company had violated the Wagner Labor Act by "spying" and discrimination at its Buffalo, N.Y., assembly plant. The examiner, Francis M. Shea, recommended the company rehire 50 unionists affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization and cease "interfering" with union activities.

Included in the multitude of raw materials purchased for the manufacture of motor cars are: soda, hogs, wheat straw and sand. The soda and sand are used in producing glass; the hogs for upholstery and the wheat straw for straw boards and panels. The automobile industry, through its purchase of raw materials in every state of the union, is one of the most important "community customers" in industry.

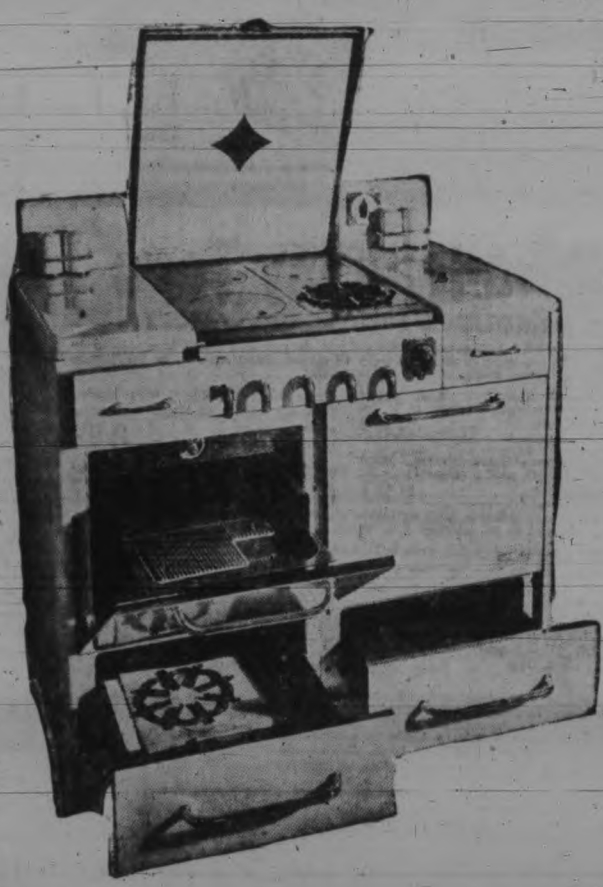

It seems a shame, when so much has been done to make motoring a pleasure, that there are so many people who do not take advantage of these facilities and foolishly make driving hazardous for themselves and others.

Smart Field For Net Meet

Sports Mirror

WHATEVER ELSE the exhibition of the Zulu Giants, comic colored baseball club, disclosed here last night and Wednesday evening, it certainly proved Victoria is still ready to support good hardball.

Many will say the standard of ball was not as high as it might have been. Certainly there were errors. But the Zulus are principally interested in crowd pleasing and their comedy was well received.

In recent years the city has been host to several outstanding barnstorming ball clubs, and the turnstiles have been active.

Slightly over 20 youngsters, some of them a little past the kid class, are turning out to the cricket school which Reg Wenman, one of Canada's outstanding performers, is supervising.

Generally they are showing a marked aptitude for the sport. Some of them have secured a partial grounding in their schools, and are getting a little more from an expert coach now.

The teaching has more to it than mere instruction. It is bringing together lads of varying social strata in Victoria as possibly few sports do. And, according to reports, the different grades are working together rather well.

Cricket, we are told, has to be played to be appreciated. There are a few hundred enthusiasts in Victoria, virtually all of whom play or have played. The school should at least increase the numbers and help to keep a fine game alive here.

Whatever the scheme may do in creating a new playing group and increasing the strength of cricket teams to come, it furnishes a good outlet for adolescent energy and keeps the boys off the street to a certain extent.

Canada stands on the brink of elimination from the first round of the American zone Davis Cup tennis play. Yesterday's matches sent Japan away to a two-match lead in the first of the best-of-five series. Little short of a miracle can bring the Canucks through to the second round.

While it is natural to assume that a country of smaller population might not produce as many stars as one of a greater numerical strength, it is difficult to understand why the Canadians cannot provide better competition in that sport.

On the west coast of Canada, represented by Vancouver's Don Cameron, Davis Cup team member who did not get a starting call, there is surely enough good weather to permit development of players of sufficient calibre to make a reasonable challenge. Perhaps the old Latin quotation which is translated into "Blacksmiths are made by blacksmithing," might apply. It would appear the time has come to send some of the British Columbia junior talent south to California for tournament experience with Davis Cup team membership as a final objective.

They should secure the experience they need there. Several of the United States stars, the two Helens, Don Budge, the ex-Portlander Wayne Sabina, the coming Frank Kovacs, to mention just a few, came up from that school.

There's something rather nice in the decision of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association to hold a "mutt" contest in its parlor show at the Crystal Garden on August 6. It's a right honest, democratic thing to do. We've often wondered why the evils of class distinction had to be inflicted on unthinking canines.

It doesn't prove a thing, but four out of five voices that came over the sports department telephone to make inquiries as to the progress of Jimmy Todd in the Canadian amateur were feminine.

Did you ever notice the small amount of time saved as a result of pressing to the limit through a busy city or town as compared with driving at a comfortable pace?

Mono Lake, Calif., known as the "Dead Sea of America," has no perceptible outlet.

OAKLANDS TO BATTLE BAYS

"Big Two" in Senior Boxla Scrap Tonight; Conservatives, Oaklanders Win

The "big two" in local senior box lacrosse, Oaklanders and James Bay, bossed by those two well-known sportsmen, Bob McInnes and Bert Buller, respectively, will clash in their fourth meeting of the season tonight at the Athletic, in what promises to be a ding-dong struggle.

The game will start at 6.15. At present the Oakland boys are leading the senior race by the odd win.

Another game listed for tonight will bring together Esquimalt and Syracuse at Victoria West Park. Starting time is 6.15.

CONSERVATIVES WIN

Conservatives climbed up to share the top slot in the second division race with Victoria Indians last night, when they trounced Cox's Bakery, 14 to 6, in the Beacon Hill arena. Led on the attack by Dakers and Entwistle, who scored five and four goals respectively, the political party representatives played their best game in the first and last sessions, during which periods they notched 11 of their total goals. Bakerymen played their best lacrosse in the middle quarters when they scored three markers.

Stan Ross refereed.

Teams and scorers follow: Conservatives—D. Hodgkinson 1, Troughton 1, G. Coleman 1, Entwistle 4, Peebles 1, Dakers 5, Reid 1, A. Coleman, Corness, Foster and Johnson. Total 14. Cox's Bakery—Benson, A. Cooley, V. Cooley 1, S. Cooley, Ludbrook 1, O'Connell 2, Jackson 1, Ball, Larmigan, Karmar, G. Kroeger, V. Kroeger and J. Davey. Total 6.

OAKLANDS JUNIORS WIN

Although Thomas, Syracuse first-string goalie, turned in a great exhibition of goal-tending, Oaklanders Juniors managed to get enough balls past him to score a 6 to 4 triumph at Hampton Road. The winner took a 2 to 1 lead early in the match and stayed in front thereafter.

Popham refereed.

Teams and scorers follow: Oaklanders—Taylor, Saunders, Jones 1, Popham, Lea 4, McCaghey, Penketh 1, Holmes, Lott, and McCormick. Total 6. Syracuse—D. Simpson 2, Thomas, B. Simpson, Parrott 1, Travis 1, Scott and Tonkins. Total 4.

One Out--One In

Sidney B. Wood Jr., New York, and Bobby Riggs, Chicago, talk over their chances of making the U.S. Davis Cup squad at the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club where Wood was eliminated from singles play yesterday.

Riggs, top-seeded player in the tournament and aspirant for a singles berth on the cup squad, will meet Frank Kovacs, 18-year-old Californian, in the semi-final. Riggs was the logical favorite, but on the basis of his performance against third-seeded Bryan M. Grant of Atlanta, he yesterday, Kovacs was conceded a chance of casting a damper on Riggs' cup aspirations. Kovacs whipped the stuffing out of Grant, fourth-ranking United States amateur, in straight sets 6-3, 6-2.

In the other semi-final Wilmer

L. Allison of Austin, Texas, was to meet Elwood T. Cooke of Portland, Ore., upset conqueror of second-seeded Frankie Parker yesterday. Allison displayed the form which won him national championships in 1934 and 1935 as he blasted the Davis Cup team hopes of blond Sidney B. Wood of New York.

In the women's singles semi-final matches today pitted Alice Marble, defending champion, against Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco, and Dorothy May Bundy of Santa Monica, Calif., against Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabry of Brookline, Mass.

A majority of the more prominent players were late starters in the 18-hole round to be played today, among them Kay Laffoon, Tony Manero, Gene Sarazen, Johnny Revolta, Lawson Little, Dick Metz, Horton Smith, Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour and Jim Foulis.

Eighteen additional holes will be played Saturday, to be followed by 36 Sunday for the low 64 players and ties in the previous two days of competition.

Adanacs Increase Boxla Loop Lead

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—New Westminster Adanacs today had a four-point lead in the intercity box lacrosse league and only six more games to play.

The fast-stepping Royal City crew turned back Vancouver Burrards 16 to 12 last night for their second win of the week and left the latter team and Salmonbellies tied for second spot. Richmond Farmers are in third place, and North Shore Indians remain in the cellar.

The Royal City boys piled up a good margin in the first two quarters to lead 7 to 3 at the half-way mark.

COLORED MEN BEAT LOCALS

Visiting African Zulu Giants Defeat All-star Baseballers 11 to 5 Before 2,300

Before another "full house" last evening at the Athletic Park, the touring Zulu Giants from Detroit romped through for an 11 to 5 victory over the Victoria All-Stars in the second and final game of their exhibition baseball series. The win boosted the Giants' record to 26 straight victories. Manager Jerry Goodwin was so pleased with the support accorded his boys that he has agreed to bring them back for another exhibition, next Thursday.

In the spotlight again last night was Prince Rusto, the touring club's clown, who wound up his evening's performance on the pitching mound. The estimated 2,300 who attended got a great kick out of the "screwball" acts of Clown Rusto, who does everything from trucking to taking a quiet little snooze during an engagement.

Victoria turned in a much smoother exhibition against the colored diamond artists and held their own for five of the seven innings.

GOOD PITCHING

Pitching for six innings, Lulu, Giants' pitcher, yielded seven hits and Rusto two during his one-inning stay. Lloyd Cann stayed on the mound, kept the bingles well scattered.

Three times during the evening the apple was hammered over the Pembroke Street fence. Jons, Giants' second sacker, did the trick twice in succession and Knucured poled the other.

Score:

Victoria 0 0 0 2 1 2—5

Batteries—Lulu, Prince Rusto and Maccam; Cann and Bridge-wood.

Umpires—Redgrave and Renfree.

Steve Dunc, Victoria's elongated left-fielder, was hit in the back of the head with a pitched ball during the engagement and spent last night as a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital. He was suffering from concussion and received treatment from Dr. A. D. Bechtel. The doctor stated Dunc's injury was not serious. He was released from the hospital today.

ARRANGE THREE CRICKET GAMES

Cowichan will be hosts to Five C's, league leaders, in one of three cricket matches scheduled for tomorrow. The fixture will be the only league game on the program and will be played at the up-island grounds.

At University School the Victoria Cricket Club will oppose H.M.S. York and at Beacon Hill Incogs will play Albions in a knockout series fixture.

All games are listed to start at 2.15.

The Victoria club's lineup for the match with the sailors follows: H. Jethaby, J. Pennington, E. Gillespie, A. Gillespie, E. Robbins, M. Ley, J. Sparks, V. Moore, R. H. Moffatt, A. J. Collett and F. Bosson. Scorer, W. J. Land; umpire, F. A. Sparks.

Five C's will field the following team: Eric Quantin, captain; J. Payne, Griffin, G. Payne, Hepworth, Nixon, Yoxall, Comley, McIlvenny, Peers and Pillar.

RELEASE DRAW FOR MAYNARD CUP GOLF

A field of 44 golfers will complete the Maynard Cup competition at the Gorge Vale Golf Club on Sunday.

R. Hinton, who carded a net 66, is favored to take first honors if he can show the same consistency he did in the opening 18.

7.50—Glen Smith, J. F. Hallier and A. Walton.

7.55—H. D. Mainwaring, E. Holt and J. Cross.

Adams Gains One-hole Lead Over Kingsley in Second Semibracket

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London, defending champion, fired five birdies and a string of pars today at Ven Savage to hold a 10-hole lead over the Salt Lake City youth at the end of the first 18 holes in their Canadian Amateur Golf Championship semifinal match.

The silent Scot, who has won the title six times, smothered the Salt Lake City player under a barrage of methodical shotmaking. He canned birdies on the sixth, ninth, 11th and 12th holes and then was conceded a fifth birdie on the 18th hole when Savage picked up.

In the other 36-hole semifinal, Ted Adams of Columbia, Mo., fought from behind to lead Ed. Kingsley, also of Salt Lake City, by a one-hole margin at the end of their morning 18 holes. At one time Adams was three holes down, but consistent play on the back nine sent him ahead.

There were three U.S. challenges against the lone Canadian as the semi-finals opened today.

But despite the fact the odds were against him, "Silent Sandy" Somerville was still the public's choice to beat back the invaders, three youthful United States shot-smiths.

Two of the three are buddies from Salt Lake City. Ven Savage, 28 and Ed. Kingsley, 23, have had their eyes on the Canadian amateur crown since playing in this year's trans-Mississippi tournament at Lincoln, Neb., where Savage defeated Kingsley in the final.

From Columbia, Mo., came Ted Adams, just old enough to vote in his country, with a ready smile, a pleasing drawl in his speech and a yearning for the Canadian crown that dates back to early last winter.

Against this golfing trio stood Somerville, London's pride. A real veteran of golfing tournaments, Sandy is after his seventh Canadian title. He won the United States amateur in 1932 when 27. Sandy and Savage met today in one-half of the two-star attraction.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Adams and Phil Farley, who lost to Somerville in the final last year, put on a great show in their quarter-final match yesterday. Farley had a birdie duce at the second. Adams did the same thing on the fifth.

Somerville was not pressed yesterday. He scored a 5 and 4 win over young Jim Hogan, Alberta junior champion, in the morning and then eliminated Larry Bissell of London in the afternoon.

Bobby Procter of Edmonton met two United States players. He disposed of Dick Lutz, Ashland, Ohio, one up, but lost to Ed. Kingsley, 3 and 2, in the afternoon. Procter was one up at the turn, but suddenly became unsteady and was over par at five of the seven holes played after the turn.

Savage eliminated Johnny Richardson of Calgary in the afternoon. The sudden assault of the Canadian championship from the States is the first serious threat since 1936 when Freddie Haas Jr., of New Orleans carried the Earl Grey Cup back home. Last year not a U.S. player reached the semi-finals.

Crack Northwest Tennis Performers Open P.N.W. Campaigns Here Monday

Hard-hitting net stars of the northwest will start their drive for P.N.W. men's sectional honors in singles and doubles play as the annual major tournament of the year, including the B.C. championships, opens at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club on Monday.

Strong performers from Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Vancouver will match strokes with the pick of the city in the sectionals, which will probably overshadow the British Columbia championships, scheduled to run concurrently and wind up Saturday. Sectional finals are listed Wednesday.

Tacoma's bid should be one of the most impressive in the series. With California's transplanted Dick Bennett heading its contingent, the team is rated a good chance of taking both single and doubles.

PRUSOFF COMING

Hank Prusoff returns to the Victoria front this year with Mel Dranga partnering him in the P.N.W. quest for Seattle. Portland will have Emory Neale and Bob Lloyd in the fight and may use Don Lewis during the series.

Jack Brawn and Russ Howes will carry Vancouver's hopes, with Jimmy Bardsley and Ron Side-way representing Jericho.

Victoria will depend on J. C. I. "Dutchy" Edwards and A. C. Brand in the singles and Reg. Corfield and Eric McCallum in the doubles.

Canada's No. 1 ranking woman, Vancouver's Eleanor Young, will lead the women's contingent, which will include Caroline Deacon, fellow townswomen.

Entries have also been received from California and a classy field will be assured for virtually every division of the tournament.

To give youngsters an opportunity to watch the leading regional stars in action, the tournament committee has declared Thursday juniors' day and will admit teen-age and younger spectators free of charge.

CLUBMEN WILL BATTLE EAGLES

Eagles and Victoria Club bracketed in second place in the Rithet Cup city championship baseball race, will meet this evening at Athletic Park at 6.15. Stan Davies, promising young hurler, will pitch for the Eagles and Sonny Walker for the Victoria Club.

While it is natural to assume that a country of smaller population might not produce as many stars as one of a greater numerical strength, it is difficult to understand why the Canadians cannot provide better competition in that sport.

On the west coast of Canada, represented by Vancouver's Don Cameron, Davis Cup team member who did not get a starting call, there is surely enough good weather to permit development of players of sufficient calibre to make a reasonable challenge. Perhaps the old Latin quotation which is translated into "Blacksmiths are made by blacksmithing," might apply. It would appear the time has come to send some of the British Columbia junior talent south to California for tournament experience with Davis Cup team membership as a final objective.

They should secure the experience they need there. Several of the United States stars, the two Helens, Don Budge, the ex-Portlander Wayne Sabina, the coming Frank Kovacs, to mention just a few, came up from that school.

There's something rather nice in the decision of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association to hold a "mutt" contest in its parlor show at the Crystal Garden on August 6. It's a right honest, democratic thing to do. We've often wondered why the evils of class distinction had to be inflicted on unthinking canines.

It doesn't prove a thing, but four out of five voices that came over the sports department telephone to make inquiries as to the progress of Jimmy Todd in the Canadian amateur were feminine.

Did you ever notice the small amount of time saved as a result of pressing to the limit through a busy city or town as compared with driving at a comfortable pace?

Highland Games Here Tomorrow

Track and Field Events, Dancing and Piping Listed on Program

Victoria's sports-minded and Scottish nationals will hark to the skirl of the pipes tomorrow as Highland dancers and bands vie with crack track and field artists for popularity in what promises to be the most colorful gathering of the season at MacDonald Park.

While Scotland's lion rampant flies from the masthead, leading highland performers from the Pacific Northwest will seek honors in a variety of dancing, piping and band events, and Victoria's stalwart athletes will try to withstand the challenge of invading stars from Vancouver and up-island centres.

The gathering will start with minor contests in the morning, commencing at 9.30. The official opening will be held at 2.30 with track events claiming the spot light.

A feature this year will be tugs of war, one closed to military and naval services and one open to all comers. In the former H.M.S. York will match strength with the Canadian Navy and the Canadian Scottish, while the latter will bring together such forces as the Longshoremen, Victoria Police and Sooke.

On the track, Vancouver's Tiger Rofe, sprint winner in the last mainland meet, will make his bid against smart local cinder pounders in the 100, 220 and quarter-mile events.

Bill Dale, Joe Addison and Chuck Cunningham, representing the senior strength of the city, are expected to carry their chosen half-mile, quarter-mile and hurdle mile events, with Terry Todd, ex-McGill miller, challenging in the longer distance.

Bert Colyer, Turfman, Dead

CHICAGO (AP)—Bert E. Colyer, 61, nationally-known horse-race handicapper and publisher of Colyer's Eye, a sports and turf information paper, died last night.

Born in Durham, Ont., Colyer ran a print shop in his youth before going to Alaska during the gold rush of '98. It was there he gained recognition as a newspaperman for his exclusive dispatch on the Chilkoot Pass avalanche April 4, 1898.

Employed by Hearst newspapers on the Pacific coast, he subsequently was transferred to the Chicago American and named turf editor. In 1914, he established his publication, which, he claimed, was the first to disclose the Chicago Black Sox baseball scandal in 1920.

BOSTON WINS PAIR FROM CHICAGO SOX

ago everyone immediately foretold their finish.

But since that time the Sox have won seven and lost three, the latest a doubleheader beating they handed Chicago White Sox yesterday 13 to 8 and 8 to 5.

The Giants ended their five-game losing streak by nipping St. Louis Cardinals 2 to 1, and, naturally, it was King Carl Hubbell who did it with a seven-hit pitching job for his 12th win. Linus Frey's three-run double gave the Cincinnati Reds a 4 to 2 victory over Boston Bees. The Pirates pounded out seven runs in a big seventh inning to trample the Phillies 9 to 2. The Dodgers and Cubs were not scheduled.

COAST LEAGUE

Manuel Salvo, the San Diego Padres' speedball artist, currently rumored as going up to the Boston Red Sox next season, blew out the Hollywood Stars like candles last night. Salvo fanned 12 and limited the Stars to four scattered hits to win his 18th game of the season, 3 to 1. Big Manuel has fanned 152 batters this season and is the reigning strikeout king of the Pacific Coast League.

Freddie Hutchinson won his 18th game of the season for Seattle last night by trimming the second-place Sacramento team 6 to 3. The loss put the Sacramento team three games behind first place Los Angeles which had an easy time trimming Portland Beavers for the third straight time, 9 to 1. Seattle's win put the Puget Sound outfit only 3½ games behind the Senators.

Sad Sam Gibson, the dour-faced San Franciscan, bested Bob Joyce, Oakland A's, 1 to 0 in a neat pitching duel.

McGeer Favors Canada Travel

Western Canadians Should Know More of East, He Says in Maritimes

PICTOU, N.S.—Urging a campaign to develop east-west tourist traffic in Canada, G. G. "Gerry" McGeer, former Mayor of Vancouver and member of Parliament for Vancouver-Burrard, stopped over at Pictou Lodge yesterday on a tour through the maritime provinces.

The people in western Canada should know more of the eastern portions of their country, he declared the legislator as he recounted the many fine attractions to be found in the Atlantic provinces.

Of the maritimes, Mr. McGeer said that in addition to the scenic beauty of the country, there was a great historic appeal. He was greatly impressed with the alluring charm of these provinces by the sea and declared: "There is something to do every day and a different place to go every day. One should not attempt to cover the maritime provinces in one season. It would take at least several to fully acquaint one with all its beauties and attractions. Even a brief visit is a revelation."

Mr. McGeer noted steps being taken to restore historic sites in Nova Scotia and favored the rebuilding of the old fortress at Louisbourg.

He already has visited Halifax, Sydney, Louisbourg, the Cabot trail, the south shore, including tuna fishing at Chester, and will speak tonight at Moncton.

Mr. McGeer lauded the highways of Nova Scotia and declared that in its tourist development the province was setting a pattern for Canada.

He is accompanied by Mrs. McGeer and three children.

French Priest Safe In Japan

Father Jacquinot, Who Visited Here, Surprised at Anxiety For His Safety

KOBE (CP-Havas)—Rev. Father Robert Jacquinot, noted French priest, arrived in Kobe Friday surprised at the concern over his nine-day "disappearance" and deeply apologetic for the trouble and alarm he had caused friends and authorities.

He was to leave for Shanghai today on the French liner Felix Roussel.

The Jesuit father, who won fame for his work among the war refugees in Shanghai, had been resting at the home of a Japanese friend at Tarumi Beach, near Kobe. Since the papers had published nothing of the nationwide search for him, he knew nothing of the concern for his safety.

Father Jacquinot landed from the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia at Yokohama July 20 and dropped out of sight that evening although he had apparently intended to continue to Shanghai aboard the same vessel.

Interviewed by newspapermen at the French consulate, the priest explained he had missed the Empress of Asia. Planning to take the Felix Roussel late Friday night instead, he decided to rest in the interim and accepted the invitation of his friend, Karuo Fujikawa, to stay at his nearby beach villa.

"I read about my disappearance" in an English paper yesterday," Father Jacquinot explained. "I am awfully sorry I caused all this trouble."

Father Jacquinot raised funds on a lecture tour in the United States and Canada and is returning to Shanghai with this money to continue his work in behalf of Chinese war refugees.

Father Jacquinot arrived here in May aboard S.S. Empress of Japan on his way to the eastern United States. He came here again early this month to sail by the Empress of Asia.

INDIAN SINGER BACK

QUEBEC (CP)—Chief Oskanont, Canadian Indian singer, arrived here yesterday aboard the liner Empress of Britain returning home to Caughnawaga, Que., after performing in the opera "Hiawatha" in London.

The chief, seeking a "rest somewhere in our forests," said he goes to England every year.

Opium SeizureIs Large One

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Four hundred tins of narcotics were seized yesterday aboard the Norwegian motorship Granville here, customs collector Fred Fisk said.

He placed the value of the narcotics at $80,000 to $100,000.

The opium tins, sealed in burlap covered containers, were linked together with 100 feet of rope, apparently ready to be thrown overboard where a contact boat could pick them up, Fisk said.

INVESTING UNITS MISSED BIG RISE

CHICAGO—Investment trusts of the management type—on the basis of reports for the first six months made public to date—apparently had not anticipated the quick change in the stock market situation such as developed late in June, and consequently found themselves at the end of the first half of the year with a relatively large proportion of assets on hand which yielded little or no return. They were liquid—in fact, too much so.

As a result, the upturn in security values which occurred during the last 10 days in June was reflected to a much lesser extent in the advance in asset values. Heretofore, investment trusts frequently have pointed out with some measure of pride the fact that the liquidation value of their outstanding stock increased more rapidly in a given period than did stock averages—putting themselves on the back, as it were.

There will be a scarcity of such statements covering operations during the second quarter and first half of 1938, because for the most part the per share liquidation values rose at a much slower pace than did the stock market as a whole. During the earlier part of the year many of the investment trusts had sold substantial blocks of the stock and had not replaced them in time to derive the benefit of the advance in prices.

Reports were circulated in Wall Street the last week in June that some of the investment trusts were heavy buyers of stocks, not so much on the ground that they anticipated a rise, but rather to dress up their June 30 financial statements because they did not want to disclose to stockholders that the management had been caught a sleep. Nevertheless, several of the larger trading trusts had upward of 20 per cent of their assets in the form of cash, receivables, short term notes and government securities, the latter generally purchased for temporary employment of funds.

It was a feeling of uncertainty concerning the future that had dictated a policy of conservatism on the part of many investment trust operators. They felt that cash was better to have than securities. In a declining market, that is true, but on a rising tide the liquidating values of trust stocks do not rise proportionately, even if the portfolio is well diversified.

Standard Statistic Company's industrial and combined stock averages on June 30 were 36 per cent higher than on March 31. The industrial average was 11.4 per cent higher than on December 31, 1937, and the combined 9.7 per cent higher than at the close of 1937.

Against this rise the increase in asset values of some of the management investment trusts makes an unfavorable showing. In some instances where a trust has substantial commitments in special situations which do not rise along with stocks—nor decline with the market—the asset value advance is kept in check.

It is not casting any aspersion upon a trust to show the extent of the lag, for very few people had anticipated the abrupt turn which occurred in the stock market.

COLUMBIA THEATRE
Zane Grey, whose newest and most thrilling story, "Roll Along, Cowboy," 20th Century-Fox release, is now showing at the Columbia Theatre, stars Smith Ballew, who has contributed more novels to the screen than any other author. Statistics reveal that more than 12,000,000 copies of his novels have been sold to the public.

Tacoma Scores Costly Victory
Tacoma Tigers defeated Wenatchee Chiefs 5 to 0 in a Western International League series opener in Tacoma last night, but the victory was costly to the Tigers. Third baseman Ernie Raimondi fractured his left leg while sliding into second base and will be lost to Tacoma for the rest of the season.

Vancouver Maple Leafs defeated Bellingham Chinooks 12 to 3 in a hitting bee in Vancouver.

Yakima's league-leading machine was in high gear as the Pippins defeated the Spokane Hawks 7 to 1 in Spokane.

"Kentucky Moonshine" Prop Scars Visitors to 20th Century Lot

Two visitors at 20th Century-Fox backed excitedly away from a wall against which they had been leaning. One of them had noticed a sign, scrawled in red pencil, which read, "This wild wall has been out and in."

They were taking no chances with wild walls, particularly those that had been out and in, on the set of "Kentucky Moonshine," where the mad Ritz Brothers made everything seem possible. They were told a wild wall is one which can be easily moved away to make room for the camera.

The Ritz Brothers are starred in "Kentucky Moonshine," currently at the Atlas Theatre, with Tony Martin and Marjorie Weaver featured. The cast includes Slim Summerville, John Carradine, Wally Vernon, Berton Churchill and Eddie Collins.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Acclaimed by critics on both sides of the Atlantic for her superb artistry in both dramatic and comedy roles, Danielle Darrieux, radiant idol of the European screen, makes her U.S. debut in "The Rage of Paris," Universal comedy romance which is now at the Capitol Theatre.

The picture was filmed by Universal studios at a cost of more than $1,000,000 under the same director, Henry Kostner, and with the same technical experts who worked to perfect Deanna Durbin's first two screen hits. Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is co-starred with Miss Darrieux.

OAK BAY THEATRE

"Call of the Wild" is no misnomer for 20th Century's reproduction of Jack London's famous classic of the Klondike gold rush of 1897, which is at the Oak Bay Theatre today, with Clark Gable, Loretta Young and Jack Oakie in its leading roles.

A story of unbridled romance which recognizes only nature's laws, it is a literal interpretation of "the call of the wild," and Darryl Zanuck, who produced the stirring saga of the last of the great frontiers, has invested the original text with a dramatic love story.

"SHE RUNS SWEET!"

There's real harmony in the tune of a motor that's lubricated with Mobiloil. For Mobiloil keeps any motor—new or old—performing at top efficiency. Impurities have been removed from this world-famous oil—washed away by the Clearasil refining process. That's why it keeps your motor so sweet and clean. That's why you have fewer engine cleanings and repairs. You save on oil too—as much as 25%, so motorists say.

Drive in where you see the Mobiloil sign. Have your crankcase drained. Then fill up with fresh, clean, long-lasting Summer Mobiloil.

CHEATING DEATH IN THE MOUNTAINS—Painfully threading their way downward through jagged rock chimneys like the one seen above, rescuers are shown as they brought Roger Carney to safety from the 10,000-foot top of Mt. Olympus near Salt Lake City, Utah. Carney had fallen into a 15-foot ravine and lay 18 hours with a compound fracture of the lower leg before rescuers found him. Then they rigged the cradle-like stretcher shown above and laboriously carried Carney downward, sharing in shifts the back-breaking and nerve-racking race against time and imminent danger of infection.

RAIL DECISION BY TAXPAYERS

They, Not Politicians, Will Rule on Unification in Canada, Says Beatty

QUEBEC.—The taxpayers, not the politicians, are the ones who will decide on unification, in the opinion of Sir Edward Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, back from a visit to Great Britain.

"Unification has got to come, and important savings will be achieved from it. The taxpayers, who will eventually decide the issue, have a strong feeling that something should be done," the president declared as he landed from the liner Empress of Britain.

Sir Edward stated also that the Senate inquiry had done "an enormous amount of good." Important facts were brought out that should put the problem of the railways in its proper perspective. "I think unification is inevitable," he said, adding, however, "it will not be for the politicians, but the people who pay the shot, who will decide. The reason Mr. Dunningham is to be budgeted for a deficit next year is because of the railway problem. It is inevitable that the people of Canada should want to be relieved of this burden."

Sir Edward said that while ultimately ships for the Canadian-Australasian Line would be built, they would not be purchased while costs of shipbuilding were as high as at present. Costs this year, he said, were 28 per cent higher than last year. "The Imperial and Dominion authorities are of one mind, that we must preserve this British route between Canada, Australia and New Zealand," he said, "but we are of one mind, too, that we cannot build until prices are better."

OTTAWA SELLS TREASURY BILLS

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada today announced on behalf of the Minister of Finance that tenders had been accepted for the full amount of $25,000,000 Dominion of Canada treasury bills due November 1, 1938. The average discount price of the accepted bids was $99.87120.

The average yield will be .501 per cent.

DEATH CAUSED BY GRAND COULEE FIRE

GRAND COULEE, Wash. (AP)—Authorities today fixed spontaneous combustion as the probable cause of the fire Thursday which burned one woman to death and left in smouldering ruins a business block of this mushroom town at the Grand Coulee Dam site.

City Health Inspector A. D. Roberts said the blaze "probably started from combustion" in the attic of Massart's plumbing and heating shop, where the cremated body of Mrs. Mary Massart was found on bed springs. She was the wife of Acting Mayor Larry Massart.

Rumors that a baby had been burned to death were not verified. Flames swept through the entire block 30 minutes after the alarm had sounded. Fire departments of Mason, City, Coulee Dam, Grand Coulee and Almirra battled to keep the wind-fanned blaze from adjacent property.

The third and largest of three major fires in the town's four-year history, it reduced to ashes wooden frame buildings housing businesses, a sub-post office, hotel, cabins and a residence.

The property loss is estimated at $100,000. Red cross workers arranged temporary housing in Grand Coulee for about 100 persons made homeless by the fire. Other relief aid was asked for.

Former B.C. Man Dies in Scotland

GLEN BRITTON, Skye, Scotland (CP)—John Duncanson Kay, retired British Columbia boiler inspector, collapsed and died yesterday while climbing Scurr Alasdair, the highest peak of the Coolin Hills on this island. He died 200 feet from the summit. The body was carried down 3,000 feet by six other mountaineers including two women.

He was a native of Rothesay, Scotland. John D. Kay, aged 61, who died while mountain climbing in Scotland yesterday, retired from the boiler inspection service of British Columbia April 1, 1937, after having served 25 years in that branch of the government.

He left Victoria about a month ago to spend the summer with his son, who is attending university in Scotland.

Surviving are his son, Ian B. Kay, attending university at Glasgow, and four sisters, Miss Jean Kay, Victoria, and Mrs. Helen D. Sutherland, Vancouver, and two sisters living at Rothesay, Bute, Scotland, and one brother, in the United States.

Dams Broken By Francoists

Floods Let Loose in Catalonia in Effort to Stop Loyalists' Advance

HENDAYE, France (AP)—Spanish insurgents opened all dams today in the Ebro River and its tributaries in an attempt to sweep away bridges behind the government's advancing armies on the Catalan front.

An insurgent news agency report from St. Jean de Luz, France, said General Franco's high command had released a swirling nine-foot-high wave of floodwater from dams high in the Pyrenees Mountains.

It said the torrents "made the river impassable" in 30 minutes.

BRIDGES STILL USED

Government advisers admitted the Ebro had risen noticeably, presumably from the opening of dams. They denied, however, their bridges had been swept away and insisted their communications lines were intact.

Insurgents said they had reached all the dams of the Noguera-Pallaresa River and the Segre hydro-electric system above the government's feeder lines across the Ebro.

Dispatches from Barcelona said government militiamen were advancing north and south of the insurgent headquarters city of Gandesa on a circular front extending 15 miles in the Catalonia war zone.

Wheat Trading At Standstill

WINNIPEG (CP)—One of the duller sessions of the year marred the Winnipeg market today. Trading was drab and at times almost at a standstill.

Wheat futures prices moved in a narrow range throughout and closed 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher with July quoted at 92 1/2, October 77 1/2, November 76 1/2 and December 75 1/2 cents.

Export business was estimated at less than 100,000 bushels and was made up chiefly of old crop springs and durums. Trading was mostly local in character.

Liverpool closed 1/4 lower to unchanged. Top grades of northern cash wheat were mostly unchanged with durums showing well in the export field. Spreads improved 1/2 cent.

Pit trade in coarse grains was dormant.

The Life of John Muir
—AN ADVENTURE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

A steamer came to anchor at Fort Wrangell, in the "panhandle" which forms a southern part of Alaska, on a July day in 1879. Seven passengers got off—three ministers, three ministers' wives and a 41-year-old man with a reddish-brown beard.

Portrait of John Muir in his later life.

The seventh passenger wore "a Scotch cap and a long grey ulster." His keen blue eyes were turned on the nearby mountains until he was introduced to a young man on the dock by the name of Hall Young.

"This is Professor Muir," one of the ministers told Young. John Muir was not a "professor" in the common meaning of the word, but he knew more about plants than many who teach botany at universities. His workshop was the wide world of nature, and his "class" was composed of thousands of persons who read his writings.

A friendship sprang up between Muir and Young. Together they explored points of interest around Fort Wrangell. Then, in company with some friends, they chartered a little steamer, and started a trip up the Stickleen River. Passing between glacier-covered mountains, they steamed 150 miles before they reached the village of Glenora, in British Columbia.

In that lovely section of British Columbia, Muir and Young met with a strange adventure. It took place when they climbed a mountain peak about 8,000 feet high.

Muir led the way, and in three hours they reached the timberline, a point above which there were no more trees. For a time they passed over stretches of beautiful flowers, then crossed a great snowfield.

Above the snowfield was the steep-sided rocky peak. As they climbed it, Muir made better speed than his companion. He was within a few hundred feet of the top—but out of sight—when he called back a warning to be careful of a certain place.

Young reached a "rash" in the rock about four feet wide, and at that point an accident took place. He stepped on a stone which gave way under him, and was thrown forward with great force. He put his hands out to break his fall, but sharp pains shot through his shoulders. He began to slide down a gravel-covered slope, toward the edge of a precipice. He tried to hold himself back, but it was no use. Bones in his shoulders had been dislocated—both of his arms had been pulled out of their sockets!

As well as he could, Young dug his toes into the gravel. He shouted for help. He pressed his chin into the gravel, but down, down he slid, feet foremost, until at last he came to a halt, with his legs reaching over the edge of the precipice! At this moment he heard Muir's voice, shouting "Grab that rock with your right hand and pull yourself back!"

HOROSCOPE

Saturday, July 30, 1938

Benefic aspects dominate today, according to astrology. It is an auspicious day for visiting and for entertaining, a lucky time to start a vacation.

Women should find this a lucky rule since it inspires romance and kindles friendliness among new acquaintances. Girls should enjoy midsummer dances; it is believed charm is emphasized by the stars.

Central Europe is under a precession of the stars which presents sharp contrasts in its foreign relations, quick changes in outlook for progress and independence.

In the horoscope of King George VI there are portents of extreme labor conflicts and great discouragement through unemployment in many parts of the British Isles.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the agony of a year of happiness through romantic friendships and love affairs. The young and middle-aged will respond to sentiment. Business may be affected by insignificant obstacles.

Children born on this day probably will be keen of mind and determined of character. These subjects of Leo usually have great initiative and courage.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

TO A "WORRIED DAUGHTER":—Your mother gets nothing but unhappiness out of life because she deliberately shuts out all the sunshine and lives in a world of gloom. She refuses to enjoy any of the pleasures she could have. She minimizes the good and exaggerates the unpleasantness of her lot. She wallows in melancholy and her bread is sorrow and her drink is tears, and because she hunts for trouble she always finds it. She takes dust and ashes to Ophir and her mouth is dry with them when she comes back.

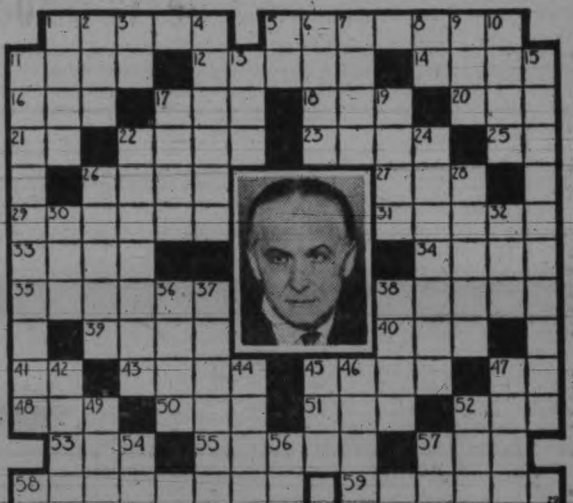

Most people think that whether or not we are happy is a matter of luck, but it is not. It is a matter of choice since, in reality, our outward circumstances have little to do with it. It is not what life brings us that makes us happy, but our attitude toward life. Some of the happiest people I have ever known have been the poorest, and many of the richest have been the most miserable.

Youth, health, wealth, high position, all of these should make for happiness, but they do not if they are united to a dissatisfied, fault-finding, sour temper that finds nothing good in all God's world. Poverty, sickness, anxiety, care seem excuse enough for unhappiness, but how often we see a blithe spirit nullify all of these handicaps! For laughter can turn a dinner of herbs into a feast. You will see more smiling faces in jitneys than you will in limousines, and many a crippled newsboy gets so much fun out of life that he is a regular cheer leader.

So there you are, my dear. You are filled with the joy of living. You get pleasure out of everything, the song of a bird, the unfolding of a flower, a cheap new dress, an evening at the movies, a good dinner. You like to work. You like meeting people. You like games. Everything brings you a thrill of interest and pleasure. And you are sorry for your mother because life is so dull and drear and drab for her.

But don't worry over her. You are wasting your sympathy over her. She is having the time of her life being miserable. She enjoys whining and complaining, and she wouldn't cheer up if she could. So let her alone and let her divert herself in her own dark blue, pessimistic way. Just thank God you didn't inherit her disposition and go on your own joyous way. If the melancholy didn't enjoy melancholia they would snap out of it.

CANADIAN SCHOOLBOYS CRUISE ON BRITISH WARSHIP—A group of Canadian schoolboys invited to England by the British Admiralty are now at sea off the coast of the British Isles with the Home Fleet during summer manoeuvres. The party, which sailed from Canada by Ss. Empress of Australia, is shown above as they flocked ashore at Southampton.

Esquimalt Harbor Busy With Ships

Educationists To Meet Here

Dr. A. G. Butchers, director of correspondence courses for the government of New Zealand, and W. Finigan, director of correspondence courses for the government of New South Wales, Australia, arrived here yesterday by Mrs. Aorangi to attend the International Conference on Correspondence Education at the Empress Hotel, August 22, 23 and 24.

This conference will attract several hundred prominent educationists from many countries to Victoria. Details for the convention are now being worked out by the B.C. Education Department and will be announced later.

John W. Gibson, director of high school correspondence courses for the B.C. Government, who is arranging the conference, met Dr. Butchers and Mr. Finigan on the Aorangi yesterday and took them for a drive about the city before they proceeded to Vancouver.

Before the conference starts Mr. Finigan, with his wife and daughter, will visit Alaska, sailing from Vancouver tomorrow night by Ss. Princess Louise and Dr. Butchers will go east to Washington, New York and Montreal to gather facts and figures on correspondence education from Canadian and United States authorities.

Esquimalt Harbor presented a busy and interesting scene this morning with seven ships at the various wharfs and in the drydock.

Over the scene roared the noise of the riveters as men hurried work on the new minesweeper Nootka, which is expected to be launched within six weeks.

Ss. Empress of Russia went into the big drydock this morning at 8 for annual summer overhaul, passing close by H.M.S. York, which is a visitor to the harbor for two weeks from the West Indies.

H.M.C.S. Fraser came into the harbor from Comox to join H.M.C.S. St. Laurent, which arrived the other day. H.M.C.S. Armentieres is also at the Naval Dockyard.

The cableship Restorer arrived from Fanning Island and tied up at the Yarrow dock, across from the lighthouse tender Estevan which is completing her annual overhaul.

Tenders from the York and the Canadian destroyers sped across the harbor this morning on innumerable trips with naval officers and sailors. Young cadets sailed their heavy cutters in the fresh breeze.

Painters were busy over the sides of the Empress of Russia, freshening up her green under-water portions after six months of traveling back and forth across the Pacific Ocean. She had not been in drydock since she was given annual overhaul in Hongkong early this year.

NO NEW SHIPS FOR C.A. LINE

Sir Edward Beatty, Home From England, Says Unwise to Build at This Time

QUEBEC (CP)—Trans-Pacific service of the Canadian-Australasian Line will be continued, but to remove the threat of foreign competition Britain will have to change shipbuilding policy, Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, said yesterday on his arrival here in the liner Empress of Britain.

Sir Edward, back from England after discussing the building of new tonnage, said current shipbuilding costs "are considerably higher and we considered it unwise to build at the present time."

There was no danger, he said, the Canadian-Australasian Line, operating between Vancouver and the Antipodes and partly Canadian Pacific owned, would be discontinued, but he admitted British shipping on the Pacific was threatened by foreign competition.

"The United States has found it necessary to subsidize its shipping," the steamship head said. "Japan's ships are heavily subsidized. It appears to me that Britain will have to change its policy from the days when it was the only great shipbuilding and shipping nation and either subsidize its builders or steamship companies or both."

"We can carry on the trade at present," Sir Edward said, "but we definitely require new tonnage. But we are up against high construction costs, and there the matter must rest for the time being."

"When the time is ripe," he concluded, "we believe that we can give a faster and better service than the Americans on the Pacific."

VICTORIA MAIL CAUSES UPSET

SEATTLE (AP)—An arbitration meeting was scheduled for tomorrow evening after Inland Boatmen's Union members yesterday delayed several hours the movement of mail destined for Victoria, B.C.

E. M. Brodell, operator of the mailboat Tahoe, which was in drydock here, trucked the mail to Port Angeles and attempted to freight it to Victoria aboard a chartered tug, the Olympia. Capt. J. M. Fox, Union business agent, said unionists were instructed not to handle it, on the contention Brodell operates the Tahoe with a nonunion crew.

Brodell then returned the mail to Seattle and attempted to launch the Tahoe, but unionists picketed the boat until an arbitration meeting was agreed upon.

Overnight mail from Seattle reached the local postoffice this morning at 9.15, having arrived on the Tahoe, which was hurriedly repaired.

Yesterday the morning mail did not arrive until 12.50 p.m. It was forced to wait for the regular C.P.R. arrival.

The Puget Sound Navigation Company, which carried the mail to Victoria overnight on the Iroquois, lost the contract some weeks ago.

DOWN THE GANGWAY

Ms. Aorangi, in port yesterday with 342 passengers—101 in the first class, 146 in the tourist and 95 in the third class—had a gay voyage from Australia and New Zealand, via Suva and Honolulu. She had an interesting and varied list of passengers, including schoolboys from New Zealand and native entertainers from the Hawaiian Islands.

Practically every passenger disembarked here to have a brief tour of the city before proceeding to Vancouver to terminate their voyage. Those that left the ship here either transferred to the Seattle steamer or went to hotels or homes of friends.

Neat in their black peaked caps, blue, red-crested blazers and grey flannels, the 19 schoolboys from Waitaki High School, New Zealand, came down the gangway in charge of their headmaster, P. W. Hargreaves. They were met aboard ship by Albert Sullivan and L. Bullock-Webster of the Provincial Department of Education, who piloted them on a brief tour of the city and then took them to the Crystal Garden, where the boys enjoyed a swim.

Although they are from well-off homes from all parts of New Zealand, the boys traveled third class on the long voyage from "down under." But that made no difference to them. They enjoyed good food and played for many hours a day on deck. Most of them are in their middle teens. They had never been to sea before, and had a thorough good time.

Victoria members of the National Council of Education took the boys sightseeing in their cars and after the youngsters had enjoyed their swim they were driven back to the Aorangi, each being presented with a basket of Vancouver Island cherries, which were eagerly accepted as unusual and out of season, for when they left home it was the middle of winter.

After camping at Banff with Canadian and English schoolboys, the New Zealand party will return here next month and spend a week in the city before sailing for home by Ss. Niagara, August 31.

A group of 50 Hawaiian entertainers, known as the Fernander Extravaganza, arrived on the Aorangi for a concert tour of western Canada and the United States.

With leis about their necks, and their curly black hair shining in the sun, the men and women, boys and girls of the party came ashore to see something of Victoria. They will be here again September 18 to take the Aorangi for home.

On the voyage north from Honolulu members of the group entertained their fellow-passengers with two fine concerts in the main lounge. They sang and danced and gave two wonderful programs, that augured well for their success on their first tour of North America.

Twenty-seven years ago Charles Luney, a member of a well-known Victoria family, left for New Zealand where he founded a contracting business at Christchurch. Yesterday he returned to Victoria aboard Ms. Aorangi to be met by his brothers, W. A. Luney and Walter Luney, and his sister, Mrs. Thos. Cusack, all well-known residents of Victoria. In Christchurch Mr.
